

Green, Lewis Fail to Reach Agreement at First Session

Have 'General Conversation' Without
'Conclusions'

RESUME MEETING

Two Rival Leaders Adjourn Until Three O'clock Today

Washington—(U)—John L. Lewis and William Green recessed their dramatic peace conference this afternoon until 3 o'clock (C.S.T.) without arriving at any conclusions.

"We have taken a recess until 3 o'clock," Lewis shouted to news-men after his two and a half hour conference with Green. "All we had was general conversation. No conclusions reached."

Green, who followed Lewis out of the conference room, said:

"We had an interesting discussion, but we have nothing more to say now."

Green arrived first with his chief negotiator, George M. Harrison.

Lewis, accompanied by Phillip Murray, stopped outside the conference building, took off his hat and patted for the camera men.

Organized labor staked its hope for peace and unity on the conference between Lewis and Green, one-time coal miners who now divide the leadership of some 7,000,000 union members.

Neither Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, nor Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, would disclose what demands and concessions they carried to the conversations (beginning at 9 o'clock a. m., C. S. T.).

Informed persons said, however, that Lewis might be willing to give up the CIO as an entity, in exchange for a self-governing department within the A. F. of L. framework.

They pictured the federation as possibly willing to create an industrial union section, divorced from the CIO as now constituted and managed.

Lewis and Green should agree to end the civil war that has kept organized labor from a united front for the last two years, the detailed job to follow would be the amalgamation of rival unions in the same industry and the distribution of jurisdiction over the various crafts and industries.

Primary Dispute

The nub of the controversy has been whether to organize workers along the federation's concept of craft unionism or on the CIO theory that all workers in the same plant, skilled and unskilled, should belong to the same organization.

Inability to agree on this issue led in 1935 to Lewis' revolt against the federation. Today's conference came as the first public meeting of the two leaders to discuss the situation.

The current industrial recession and its accompanying effect on labor were credited in part with bringing the men together.

The A. F. of L. executive council will meet here tomorrow, and although not called for that purpose, would have an opportunity to discuss any agreement considered by Lewis and Green.

Acceptance of any terms by CIO leaders might even await the January convention of the United Mine Workers, Lewis' own union, which has a large financial stake in his recent organization.

Assisting Green today was George Harrison, leader of a group of railroad brotherhoods. Lewis' companion was Phillip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, chief of the 10 unions that formed the nucleus of the CIO.

WANT MURPHY MEDIATION

DETROIT—(U)—The Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor voted unanimously last night to propose Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan as mediator in an attempt to bring the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization to a settlement.

The resolution expressed regret over the continued struggle of the two organizations for control of labor and declared that Governor Murphy was "one who could settle the controversy."

About Men's Ears

Men are no brighter after their 20th year than they were before, though their brains keep enlarging until 30 or 60, says the curator of anthropology of the Smithsonian Institute. Adding one more unpleasant fact, he states that men's ears grow longer as they grow older.

Hm. Of course, some fellows might take that as an insult, but this winter feels he can afford to laugh it off. "Hee-haw! Hee-haw!" — Just like that. (Signed by the curator of classified want-ads in The Post-Crescent. Here's one that was very successful.)

GIRL IS CENTER OF ADOPTION ROW

Four-year-old Shirley Jean Clements is shown here getting a hug from her foster mother, Mrs. Minnie Clements, at Cincinnati. The girl's real mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Mathis, 24, asked a court to restore her custody of the child, charging she was induced to give her up by fraud.

Ingenuity Pays Dividends In Home Lighting Contest

There are hosts of ideas for decorating your home in preparation for the Christmas Home Lighting Contest which the Post-Crescent will sponsor.

The story of Christmas or a simple Yuletide greeting may be conveyed beautifully and effectively by any number of arrangements of lights and other decorations. Or, perhaps, you prefer not to present a definite theme in your lighting but merely to bring out the architectural features of your home and the landscaping in your yard.

The Post-Crescent is laying down no rules regarding the appearance of the decorations, only that they be outdoors and that they be safe.

Entries in the contest, in which 12 prizes will be offered, opened yesterday and will close midnight, Sunday, Dec. 19. Homes competing for the prizes, which will be announced soon, must turn on the lights on their Christmas displays each night starting Monday, Dec. 20. The judging will be held that week and the winners announced after Christmas.

The names of judges who will consider the appearance of the displays will be published soon. It will be up to this group to mark each competing home on the basis of 80 points, the maximum which can be awarded for scenic effect, originality and other aspects relating only to appearance.

Louis Luebke, city electrician, will inspect each lighting plan for its safety, rating them on a basis of 20 points.

On page 12 of this issue you'll find an entry blank for the contest. Three prizes will be offered in each of the four divisions of the contest. Homes are classified according to assessed valuation. The prizes will be both useful and attractive.

Most Allegations Quashed in Suit

Only One Count Remains
In $29,000 Action
In Eviction Case

Elkhorn, Wis.—(U)—Circuit Judge V. Werner, of Appleton, in a tentative decision announced yesterday, sustained all but one allegation in the defense demurrer to the $29,000 damage suit brought by Ernest Kalb, dispossessed Sharon farmer, against County Judge Roscoe Luce, former Sheriff of Gore and Henry Feuerstein.

The decision was tantamount to dismissal of the case as it concerned Judge Luce and Feuerstein, owners of the farm land from which Kalb was evicted. 3 leaves O'Brien to answer the charge that undue force was used in the eviction.

Kalb was charged with resisting an officer, March 12, 1936, when a scuffle occurred after he refused to be evicted. He served several weeks in jail before a six-month sentence was commuted by Governor LaFollette. The land had been purchased from Feuerstein in 1923. Kalb protested the foreclosure sale as illegal under the new Frazer-Lemke act.

'Neutrality Bloc' Asks Confab With Roosevelt

Washington—(U)—Senators who have joined what they termed a "neutrality bloc" in protest against the administration's policy in the Far East said today they intend to take their arguments directly to President Roosevelt.

Senator Nye (R-N. D.) said a bipartisan group of senators would ask for a White House conference shortly after Mr. Roosevelt returns from his southern vacation. Senators LaFollette (D-Wis.) and Clark (D-Mo.) said they would attend.

"We want to ask the president to give us his views on why the neutrality law should not be invoked in the Chinese-Japanese war," Nye said.

Airplanes Attack Japanese Positions at Shanghai

Shanghai—(U)—Chinese dispatches from Hangchow today said more than 1,000 civilians were killed and wounded in a Japanese air raid on Hsiao-shan, about 12 miles southeast of Hangchow.

Five hundred dead and wounded noncombatants were reported in the ruins of buildings destroyed by Japanese incendiary bombs. Those buried in the wreckage were not immediately extricated.

Scores were made homeless by the destruction of 1,100 houses in Hsiao-shan.

Two Chinese airplanes raided Japanese positions at Shanghai today in the first aerial attack in more than a month.

One bomb dropped near the former anchorage of the Japanese flagship Izumo, near the Japanese consulate, but did no damage.

Japanese said the Chinese planes operated at a height of 10,000 feet, successfully evading pursuit craft.

They declared that in an air battle near or over Nanking six airplanes shot down thirteen of China's new Soviet-built planes.

China was said to be massing a fleet of 300 Russian-built warplanes for a renewal of aerial attacks on Japan's advancing armies.

Foreign naval officers said Chinese bombers raided down the Whangpoo river from Shanghai. Japanese declined to comment on the report.

New Bombers Arrive

Twenty new two-engine bombers arrived at Hankow, 300 miles up the Yangtze river from Nanking, and were being tuned up by Chinese pilots, well-informed and reliable foreigners reported. The remainder of the fleet of 300 Soviet-built craft were said to be either at Sian, 400 miles north and west of Hankow, or on their way from Russia.

The Manila Tribune said five of six heavy bombing planes unloaded there recently and consigned to H. H. Kung, Chinese finance minister, were on their way to Hong Kong aboard the British freighter Ben-madui.

(Kung's name, the newspaper said, was removed and the shipment redressed to a British concern at Hong Kong. The planes were said to have been purchased by China in the United States and brought here by the motorship Tai-yin.)

Americans Endangered

On the Yangtze delta battleground Japanese fought their way toward objectives where groups of American residents were believed to be in danger.

Heavy Japanese bombers showered projectiles ahead of infantry units driving toward Nanking and Wuhu, Yangtze river port 60 miles southwest of the almost-deserted Chinese capital. Another Japanese column was aimed at Hangchow, Chekiang province seaport to the south.

Dr. R. E. Brown, Ann Arbor, Mich., forwarded to Japanese authorities the appeal of 24 Americans and several other foreigners that a neutral zone be established at Wuhu. As in the case of similar appeals by Nanking and Hangchow residents, there was no answer.

The United States consulate and mission authorities expressed fears for the safety of 13 Americans, mostly women and children, marooned at Mokanshan or nearby. Mokanshan, near the Chekiang-Anhui provincial border, is an isolated region in the heart of the Chinese-Japanese battleground.

State Agents Raid 3 Places at Cedar Grove

Green Bay—(U)—Beverage tax agents from the office of State Treasurer Sol Lestander, led by Sam Woldenberg, yesterday afternoon raided three places in Cedar Grove, small Sheboygan county community "dry" under local option, it was learned today. About ten cases of liquor were seized, the agents said.

The places raided were Leo's tavern, the Sweet Shop, and W. W. Walberg's place. The operators were ordered to appear in court at Sheboygan Friday morning to answer charges of selling liquor without a license. Under the local option, beer, but not liquor, may be sold in Cedar Grove.

"Buys" were made by undercover men dressed as hunters last Friday, Sunday and Monday, and were the basis for the issuance of search warrants, the agents said. The three places were raided simultaneously.

Fined $500 for False Residence Statement

Elkhorn, Wis.—(U)—County Judge Roscoe R. Luce fined Albert Scully, 25, of Chicago, $500 and costs yesterday on a charge of making a false statement of residence to obtain a hunting license. Judge Luce gave him the alternative of paying the fine or spending 90 days in jail.

Scully, arrested in northern Wisconsin, said he had attended the University of Wisconsin for a year and believed that entitled him to a resident hunting license.

Continue Search for Missing U. W. Student

Madison—(U)—Police continued a search today for Normal Lister, Lawrence, Mass., a University of Wisconsin freshman who disappeared from his rooming house Saturday. University officials said he left a note saying he was dropping out of school and returning home, but authorities were advised he had not arrived at his home.

Tammany Boss Must Answer Dewey's Charges of Alliance With Rackets

New York—(U)—Albert Marinielli, a heavy-faced old guard Tammany boss accused of unfitness for his job as New York county clerk, had orders today from Governor Herbert H. Lehman to answer the charge by next Monday.

The governor thus proposed to put Marinielli on trial, as another governor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, put former Mayor James J. Walker on trial in 1932, for his alleged official sins. Walker resigned.

It is a case again of a Democratic judge—Lehman—against an accused Democratic office holder—Marinielli. The accuser is young Thomas E. Dewey, to whom in the Nov. 2 city election Tammany lost the Manhattan district attorneyship for the first time in 20 years. Dewey is a Republican.

Governor Lehman yesterday received from Dewey a series of sworn charges against Marinielli, accusing him of political alliance with racketeers, of harboring a federal fugitive, of consorting with known criminals.

Six hours later the governor sent Marinielli an ultimatum to speak up by Monday.

The county clerk, who long has ruled his lower east side bailiwick by old-fashioned political methods, was silent; he could not be located.

The whole affair stems back to the recent municipal campaign and symbolizes as well Dewey's avowed intention of breaking up that part of Tammany which he has asserted had criminal alliances.

Marinielli's term of office ends on Dec. 31. He has indicated he would not be a candidate for reappointment.

Petition Forces Ballot On Pay-Hour Measure By Middle of December

Wallace Criticism May
Farm Bill

RAPS SENATE PLAN

Says Measure Provides No Safeguard for Consumer

Washington—(U)—The house tentatively accepted today an amendment offered to the farm bill by Representative Boileau (D-Wis.) to deny soil conservation payments to farmers who plant dairy-feed crops on acreage formerly devoted to soil-depleting crops.

Washington—(U)—Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, asked the senate today to send the Pope-McGill farm bill back to the agriculture committee for redrafting along lines suggested by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

McNary made the proposal after Wallace's letter to the authors of the bill, Senators Pope (D-Idaho) and McGill (D-Kans.) was read to the senate at the Republican leader's request.

Are we to follow the recommendations of the secretary of agriculture? McNary asked. "If so, it cannot be done well on the floor of the senate; it must go back to committee."

McNary forecast that if the bill was passed in its present form it would be vetoed by President Roosevelt.

Washington—(U)—Criticism of the senate farm bill by Secretary Wallace and legislators prompted Majority Leader Barkley today to revise his predictions that the measure would be enacted this week.

Barkley clung to his demand, however, that the senate begin considering a score of amendments to the measure, which it has been debating for nearly two weeks.

Wallace declared in a letter yesterday to Senators Pope (D-Idaho) and McGill (D-Kans.) that the senate's bill does not safeguard consumers against high prices and might lead to further losses in the export market.

The legislation, as it stands, he said, fails to provide sufficiently large reserves of wheat and corn for the "ever-normal granary" which he has advocated.

Too Restrictive

Describing the measure as "more restrictive than necessary," he said it would result in frequent imposition of marketing quotas.

Wallace asserted that several provisions would tend to raise prices of cotton and wheat far above world levels, resulting in a reduction in export outlets.

He suggested that income received by cotton and wheat growers from crops sold at world prices raised by processing taxes, supplemented by subsidies.

Wallace estimated the program authorized by the senate bill might entail federal expenditures of from $100,000,000 to more than $500,000,000 above the $500,000,000 now authorized annually for the soil conservation program.

Senator Copeland (D-N. Y.), who had the floor today to propose an amendment which he said would protect dairy and poultry industries, commented:

"It is highly doubtful that congress will pass any legislation at the special session, and that includes the farm bill."

Power Plants' Sale Is Given Approval

Commission Also Approves Northern Paper Mills Bond Issue

Madison—(U)—Northern Paper Mills, Green Bay, has been authorized by the public service commission to sell its Chaik Hill and White Rapids hydro-electric plants to the Wisconsin Michigan Power company for $2,350,000.

The commission authorized the buying company to issue $2,000,000 in 31 per cent first mortgage bonds maturing in 1961 and $700,000 in promissory notes. Because the dams of the hydro plants extend across the Menominee river between Michigan and Wisconsin approval by the federal power commission and the federal securities and exchange commission will be necessary.

The commission said that the Wisconsin Michigan Power company and the Milwaukee Electric and Wisconsin Gas and Electric companies now buy most of the entire output of the two hydro plants from Northern Paper Mills.

Under the new arrangement Northern Paper Mills will buy whatever power it needs from the Wisconsin Public Service corporation and the corporation will get such power wholesale from the Wisconsin Michigan company.

Faces Federal Trial In Butternut Robbery

Madison—(U)—Leo Lepinski was held under $25,000 bond in the Dane county jail today following arraignment before United States Commissioner J. J. McManamy on a charge of participation in the robbery of the Northern State bank at Butternut, Wis.

Federal officials said that Edward Zblewski, also charged with the robbery, would be held in jail until trial without arraignment since he previously had been placed under $25,000 bond in connection with a bank holdup at Bancroft, Wis. Lepinski was arrested at Chicago, Nov. 26.

Two other prisoners, Frank Lemonezyk and Albert Czerwinski, recently were brought here from Ashland where they were arraigned on the Butternut charge.

No arrangements for a trial date have been made, as Judge Patrick T. Stone is occupied with the federal oil conspiracy case.

School and New Addition Burn Down Near Medford

Medford—(U)—Pupils of the Buddy school in Greenwood township had an extra month of vacation last fall because carpenters were unable to complete the $2,000 addition to the school in time for the regular opening. Yesterday the school, new addition and all, burned to the ground.

Sheboygan County Man Claims He Was Born July 4, 1824

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—(U)—Naturalization officials were puzzling here today over a Wisconsin man who, if the records presented to them are correct, may be the country's oldest resident.

He is William Stanton of Adell, who says he was born in County Roscommon, Ireland, on July 4, 1824, came to this country in 1830, fought for Lincoln for president, and discovered he was not a citizen only recently when he applied for an old age pension. His claims to have lived in Sheboygan county since 1840, nearly a hundred years. He has now applied for naturalization. The naturalization examiner believes the records are authentic. The court clerk, doubtful, questioned local citizens who testified that he was an old man when they were little boys. He presented an 1853 list of voters on which his name appeared.

20 YEARS LATE

Hallie Daigh, 39, came home to Springfield, Ill., from the World War to learn that the bride he left behind 20 years ago had long since mourned him as dead and was now the wife of another and mother of a 17-year-old son. Daigh was in a German prison camp and for several years his memory was blurred by the effects of poison gas.

Attempt to Prove Raabe Was Killed By Police Bullets

Questioning in Milwaukee Trial Indicates Nature of Defense

Milwaukee—(U)—Defense questioning in the state's trial of four Chicago men, accused of the murder of acting Detective George Raabe in a raid on the Luck Dairy company Nov. 2, indicated today the defense will contend that Raabe was killed by police bullets.

Frank Fawcett, attorney for Charles "Fuzzie" Carney, one of the defendants, questioned Detective George Legge minutely after the police official had described the events immediately prior to the shooting.

Besides Carney, the defendants are Michael Kalamy, who the state alleges shot Raabe, Fred W. Young, admitted leader of the gang, and Patrick Connolly.

Legge, who preceded Patrolman Charles Smith to the stand, was the most important of six witnesses called to testify by the prosecution.

Tells of Fight

Legge told the court how he shot it out with Edward "Spry" Atkins, who died of bullet wounds.

Legge was preceded to the stand by Edward Hegler and Lloyd McCarthy, employees. Hegler said he was unable to identify any of the four men, but McCarthy pointed out Young, designating him as the man who "held a gun on him," forcing him to try to open the safe.

Cashier Fred Tegge and his wife testified they were unable to recognize any of the four accused men as in the group of "four or five," that invaded their home Nov. 2, took the combination to the Luck safe, and left two to guard them while the others left to execute the raid on the safe.

Texas Appears in Wheel Chair to Add 218th Name

PROBE PLEA TABLED

Republican Leader
Charges 'Swapping'
For Bill

Washington—(U)—The house leadership broke the prolonged deadlock over wages and hours legislation today when the 218th member signed a petition to force a vote on the measure by mid-December.

Representative Mansfield (D-Texas) rolled up on his wheel chair to be the final signer, amid a roar of cheers.

Just before Mansfield put down his name, Representative Smith (D-W. Va.) had jotted down his signature—number 217.

They were preceded by Representative Connery (D-Mass.), brother of the late William P. Connery, co-author of the wage-hour bill; Kennedy, Gambrell and Goldsborough, all Maryland Democrats; and Chapman and Meeks, Illinois Democrats.

Before the 218th signature went on the petition the house heard a Republican demand investigation of statements that backers of the administration's wages and hours bill "swapped everything but the capitol" to insure a vote on the measure at the special session of congress.

Fish Asks Inquiry

Representative Fish (R-N.Y.) asked of the inquiry because, he said, of statements attributed to Representative Dies (D-Texas), a leading opponent of the wage-hour bill, and Representative Robertson (D-Va.).

In the senate, meanwhile, Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, sought to send back to the agriculture committee the farm bill, now being debated.

He asked its revision in the light of a letter from Secretary Wallace criticizing the bill's present form, and statements made by President Roosevelt.

The bill, McNary contended, would cost more than President Roosevelt had indicated he would approve and also, he asserted Mr. Roosevelt had called for voluntary control with "no coercion."

As soon as the Fish inquiry resolution was read in the house Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Texas) asked that it be tabled but Fish objected and forced a roll-call. The vote to table was 281 to 84.

Praise Mansfield

After the petition was completed, Chairman Norton (D-N.J.) of the labor committee and other backers of the bill pressed up to shake the hand of Mansfield, who for many years has been forced by illness to use a wheel chair. It was minutes before the house calmed down.

A few southerners were among the members who added their names to the wage-hour petition yesterday and the signatures totaled 210. Most legislators from that region, however, have opposed the bill on the ground that it would harm industry in the south by removing north-south differentials.

Representative Martin (R-Mass.), assistant minority leader, said completion of the petition would be the signal for attempts to keep out any such differentials after the bill reaches the floor.

Von Starckenberg and Actress are Married

Vienna—(U)—Prince Ernst von Starckenberg, former vice chancellor of Austria, and Nora Gregor, pretty Viennese actress, were married today in a private church ceremony on Kahlenberg, a historic hill rising above the Danube at the edge of Vienna.

The Catholic service which made a princess of the actress was conducted by one of Von Starckenberg's old friends, Prelate Karl Grossauer of Graz.

The soldier-prince who might have worn any of a dozen military uniforms was married in civilian attire. The bride wore a simple gray satin gown.

Delbos Trying to Strengthen Ties in Central Europe

Makes 17-Day Tour in Capitals of Poland and Little Entente

Paris — (U) — Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos turned to the east today for the third move of Europe's many-sided diplomatic chess game, reportedly bearing the assurance that France and Britain would not give Germany a "free hand" in central Europe.

Delbos arranged to leave this evening for Warsaw, the first stop on a 17-day tour of the capitals of Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Informed sources in Paris viewed the trip as a definite sequel to this week's French-British diplomatic talks in London and the Nov. 19 conference between Britain's Lord Halifax and Chancellor Hitler of Germany.

Delbos will leave Warsaw next Monday for a short visit to Krakow, Poland's capital, then continue on to Bucharest, where he will stay until Dec. 11. He will spend two days at Belgrade and arrive at Praha Dec. 15, leaving for Paris three days later.

Hopes to Bolster Pact

Delbos hopes to gain a new promise from Poland and the Little Entente—Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia—that they will keep their alliances with France.

At the same time he will seek to quiet fears Britain and France might be ready to abandon central Europe to Germany's ambitions in return for a full settlement in western Europe.

Foreign office sources said Delbos would give the French allies the assurance that Britain and France stood together and took "an active interest" in central European affairs.

He will also sound out statesmen in the four capitals on a plan for a nine-power European security pact said to have been broached in London. Members of the pact would be France, Germany, Britain, Italy, Belgium, Poland and the Little Entente.

Paris sources said this proposal—hardly favored by France because it would exclude a French ally, the Soviet Union—was pushed by the British as a means of forming a workable "little league of nations" to deal with European affairs.

Girl Hurt in Traffic Accident With Auto

Skidding on the icy pavement, a car driven by Norman Lietz, 625 S. Tenth street, was damaged in an accident about 12 o'clock today on W. Prospect street. The machine collided with a power pole and broke it off, but Lietz was not hurt.

Betty, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Defferding, had several ribs broken and bruised her knee in an accident with a car driven by J. E. Smith, 208 E. Ninth street, Kaukauna, Tuesday afternoon, it was reported to police yesterday. Smith was driving south on Badger avenue when the accident occurred.

A car owned by Earl Bates was damaged yesterday in a minor accident on Soldiers square. The parked car was involved in a collision with a Kroger Grocery company truck, Oshkosh. The name of the driver of the truck was not learned.

Business Picks Up On Baseball Mart

Announce Transactions Made at Minor League Meeting

Milwaukee — (U) — Business picked up a bit at the major-minor league baseball mart today.

The Boston Red Sox released the veteran Oscar Melillo to the St. Louis Browns where he will serve as coach; the Cincinnati Reds sold outfielder Hub Walker to Nashville and signed Hank Gowdy as coach; Brooklyn sold pitcher Ben Cantwell to Montreal and Chattanooga purchased outfielder Johnny Gill from San Francisco.

Melillo's release to the Browns was outright with no cash involved, said Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox. His playing days over, Oscar had a chance at coaching and the Red Sox let him go. Though a great star with the Browns, the veteran infielder failed to help the gold plated boys from Boston much since he was sold to them in 1934. Constant stomach trouble held him out of action, bit by bit, last season he saw but little action.

In going to Cincinnati from Boston, Gowdy simply is following Manager Bill McKenchie who succeeded Charles Dressen as commander of the Reds.

Walker, brother of Detroit's famed Gerald Walker, went to Nashville to complete deals made last season with the Southern association club, now piloted by Dressen.

Farm-Labor Units Plan For State Conference

Local units of the Farm-Labor-Progressive party during the next four weeks will name delegates to a state conference to be held at the Madison Hotel in January. Plans for the state conference will be made at the conference. Fusing of political organizations through the party also will be studied at the January meeting.

Girls at Wilson School to Learn Knitting in Club

33 Students Attend Initial Meeting of Organization

Plans for the year's activities were outlined at the initial meeting of the Wilson Junior High school knitting club Tuesday. Miss Florence Verbrick is faculty sponsor.

Thirty-three girls registered to take part in the club program, which will include knitting sweaters, skirts, scarfs, mittens, caps and children's sweaters. Yarn and knitting needles will be furnished by club members.

Following is a list of girls who will learn how to knit from Miss Verbrick this year: Ruth Baerwald, Germaine Buelow, Marjorie DeDecker, Lorraine DeGroat, Marcella Doell, Jeanette Drude, Ellen Ehle, Constance Garvey, Dorothy Hamelster, Ellen Hiebel, Beverly Howard, Betty Huebner, Alberta Kormsco.

Virginia Lang, Erma Lemke, Mildred Lenz, Rita Lohn, Arlene Masonette, Betty McGarvey, Mae Meiers, Lilla Merkes, Dolores Metz, Beulah Newton, Pat Niles, Irmgard Noffke, Jane Osterreich, Lucille Schroeder, Beverly Shaeckelford, Josephine Tonne, Ruby Wankey and Shirley Wiesler.

Kindergarten Enrollment Increasing in Wisconsin

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Despite the fact that kindergarten enrollment generally in all other states has shown a substantial decrease in the last seven years, Wisconsin kindergarten enrollment continues to increase, according to a study just published by the Wisconsin Education association.

In almost all cities which provide instruction for the pre-school child, there is an increase in 1937 over the previous year. The total state increase is 3,400, and the total number of children enrolled in kindergarten classes is 34,000, according to the association.

Appleton, for instance, has 772 children enrolled in kindergarten courses this year, compared with 752 for the previous year.

Make Poorer Showing

The association pointed out that although there are still more than 65,000 Wisconsin children of four and five years of age who are not attending kindergarten, there is a question as to the advisability of starting children below six in first grade classes.

"Each year," says the teachers' group, "there are about 7,000 such children starting school," although national surveys show that children entering school below the age of five years and five months make a poorer showing in relation to their ability than any other age group.

"If there isn't a kindergarten available it's best to keep the child home until his sixth year," says the association, "as otherwise he is very apt to be lost trying to keep up with children a year older."

The association also recommended an extension of kindergarten opportunities. "Many Wisconsin villages should organize kindergarten classes, and in rural areas where the school unit is of sufficient size, such instruction can also be given."

Kindergarten enrollments in other cities in the Appleton area are reported as follows:

Green Bay 692; Clifton 36; Clintonville 63; De Pere 49; Kaukauna 112; Manitowoc 743; Menasha 140; Neenah 287; New London 109; New Holston 47; Oshkosh 985; Shawano 80; Two Rivers 125; Waupaca 55.

Suggests Hobbies As Diversion From Everyday Routine

Rev. H. W. Parsons Recommends Sidelines to Vary Daily Life

By becoming interested in a worthwhile hobby, a man may satisfy his desire to do something different from his every-day occupation, the Rev. H. W. Parsons, assistant pastor of the First Congregational church, said in a talk before the Kiwanis club at the Conway hotel yesterday noon.

"Modern life doesn't give us the satisfaction we want," the pastor said. "In the old days men did a variety of things because they had to do them. Now, because of specialization, most of us are forced to remain within one line of work."

It is no longer believed that hobbies are for children only and that for men to bother with them is silly. The Rev. Mr. Parsons cited the liking many male members of British royalty have for knitting as an indication of how hobbies are found in every walk of life.

"President Coolidge would have been a happier man after he left the White House if he had had a hobby," the speaker said. "He didn't know what to do with himself."

Hobbies have educational as well as recreational values. "If a man builds model ships, for example, he must know or will gradually learn facts about naval architecture. And just by playing with toy electric trains, one can learn a lot about railroadings."

County Officials Propose Uniform Grants for Relief

Await Distribution of $3,000,000 by Emergency Board

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—County boards and officers of Wisconsin County Boards association today awaited action of Governor Philip F. LaFollette and the state emergency board in beginning distribution of the $3,000,000 relief fund appropriated by the 1937 legislature.

A. J. Thelen, secretary of the county boards association, said that his group is anxiously awaiting a meeting of the board to learn what system will be used in determining relief grants. The association vigorously fought the "fire department" relief system, proposing instead uniform grants to counties.

Although D. D. Fanner, director of the public welfare department, has already expressed concern about increasing unemployment in the state and the prospect of heavy relief loads in many near-bankrupt northern counties and localities, the emergency board to date has not released any of the $3,000,000 fund.

Thelen also said that the joint committee chosen last summer by state highway commissioners and county board highway committee, consisting of six members, will meet in Madison soon, probably next week, to study new highway laws. The committee was chosen to review new highway laws for the purpose of suggesting revisions before the annual road school for county and local highway authorities which will be sponsored by the state highway commission sometime in January.

Dates for both the committee meeting and the road school will be announced soon, he said.

Honor Twin Cities in Names of New Pullmans

Two new air condition sleepers, to be named Neenah and Menasha, will be put into service tomorrow by the Soo line between Neenah and Chicago. These sleepers will carry two cars now in service on this run.

They will be attached to train No. 18 leaving Neenah at 2:11 a. m., arriving in Chicago at 7:55, and to train No. 1 leaving Chicago at 12:20 a. m., and arriving at Neenah at 7:58 a. m. These cars will be ready for occupancy in Chicago and Neenah at 9:30 p. m.

Educators Plan Annual Christmas Party Dec. 9

The Appleton Education association's annual Christmas party will be held Thursday, Dec. 9, at the Conway hotel. The party will open with a 6:30 dinner which will be followed by cards. Miss Helen Gillman is general chairman for the affair.

Lake Geneva Horse Is Second in 5-Gait Event

Chicago — (U) — High Tide, a chestnut from James H. Jacobson's Mandelane farms, Lake Geneva, Wis., placed second in the five-gait event at the horse show held last night in connection with the International Livestock exposition.

In the world show, C. E. Cook, Richland Center, Wis., showed the first place sample of three-eighths blood combing wool, market class.

Commissioners to Hear Cases Under Compensation Law

Schedule Nine Hearings at City Hall During December

Wisconsin Industrial commission representatives will hold nine hearings under the workmen's compensation act at Appleton city hall during December. Five cases will be heard Dec. 7 and the others Dec. 16.

When commissioners are in the city, employers or employees with questions or problems concerning the act, may bring them before the group. Any individual who has a question on his rights or duties under the law will be heard.

Following is the list of cases to be heard on Tuesday, Dec. 7: 9 o'clock, Hubert Fassbender versus South Kaukauna Dairy company; 10 o'clock, Wilbur Klutz versus Meyer, Burstein and Sons; 11 o'clock, Bernard Feldkamp versus George Feldkamp; 1:30 in the afternoon, Chester W. Koss versus August Brandt company; 2:30, Arthur L. Nelson versus G. R. Fehr, Inc.

The list of cases to be heard Thursday, Dec. 16, follows: 9 o'clock, Richard Jansen versus Weber Chimney company; 10:30, Oscar Bunnet versus city of Seymour; 1:30, Peter Craywin versus Marathon Paper Mills company; 2:30 John M. Deeg versus Koepke Brothers Construction company.

Pollard Players Enact 3-Act Play at School

"Broken Dishes," a 3-act play, the fifth in a series of Iyecom programs, was presented by the Pollard Players during a general assembly period at Appleton High school this morning.

The play was one of the hits of the 1930 season in New York and depicts an amusing picture of a henpecked husband whose wife is always telling him that she might have made a brilliant match.

Two Poultry Thieves Sentenced to Prison

Elkhorn, Wis. — (U) — Herbert Smith, 41, and Rufus Tompkins, 40, both of Sharon, Wis., were sentenced to one to three years in the state penitentiary at Waupun yesterday by County Judge Roscoe R. Luce when they pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of poultry. The men were arrested at Sharon Tuesday night.

Report Italian Fliers Have Downed 455 Planes

Rome — (U) — The newspaper Il Messaggero reported today that Italian aviators had brought down 455 government aircraft in the Spanish civil war. The newspaper also carried the names of 35 Italian fliers who had lost their lives in Spain since Sept. 16, 1936.

Spelvin Sees No End of Grief in Housing Plan

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—George Spelvin, American, appeared before the housing commission and testified as follows:

Q—You claim authority on housing? Why?

A—Well, I built a house, I own a house and I live in a house.

Q—You built a house? Built it yourself?

A—No, I mean I paid for building it. I work in an office.

Q—Do you think a government housing program would run into trouble?

A—Well, judging by my own case, yes.

Q—State your experience.

A—Well, there was the sewer. The real estate promoter promised to put in a sewer, but he went into bankruptcy and the sewer isn't in. He had several corporations. Every time he bought another lot, it would form another corporation, and the corporation that sold us our lot went bankrupt. So the sanitary inspector wouldn't let us dig a cesspool and the corporation couldn't build the sewer. So they had a receiver, and after a long time, with our house standing idle, they got things straightened out, but the receiver and the receiver's lawyers had taken all the money. So finally the town built the sewer and taxes us for it.

Q—What about the sidewalks and the pavement. We paid for them in the purchase of the lot, but after the little corporation went bankrupt we had to pay for them again, in taxes.

A—The real estate man still had plenty of money, personally, but this corporation was broke.

Q—Was there something about a furnace?

A—Yes, sir. It seems the contractor made a deal with a furnace contractor and he installed an old furnace, just painted over, instead of a new one, as the contract specified. It wouldn't heat and the pipe froze, and then the furnace blew up and we had to move to a boarding house while they fixed it. I had to redecorate the boarding house walls where the children drew pictures with their crayons, all because of that furnace.

Q—Had to Tear Out Wall To Get At The Plumbing?

A—Then, when they went to fix the frozen pipes, they discovered that the builder didn't leave that little trap door so you could get at the pipes to fix them. So we had to get a carpenter to tear out the wall and a plasterer to make it over. Many a time, this new plumber discovered that the original plumber had used wax instead of solder on a big joint way back under the bathroom floor. That was leaking, too. He could see it with his flashlight, but couldn't get at it, so we had to wreck the floor and rebuild it.

Q—Well, then, the furnace contractor, it seems, didn't have any backing, so he couldn't replace the furnace with a good one. And then the junk man who sold him the second-hand furnace came and got it, claiming he had not been paid for it.

Scout First Aid Contests Slated

Valley Council Troops Will Compete Here Early Next Month

Boy Scout first aid teams from Valley council will meet in competition early in January, Walter Dixon, scout executive, announced yesterday, with the tournament split up into two nights.

Both contests will be held in Appleton, the first, Friday night, Jan. 7, in the Roosevelt Junior high gymnasium and the second, Monday evening, Jan. 10, in the Wilson Junior high gym.

At Gardner is general chairman for the contests in which troops from Black Creek, Seymour, Hortonville, New London, Kaukauna, Combined Locks, Kimberly, Brillion and Neenah-Menasha will participate.

Scoutmasters have been notified of the dates and asked to select the night on which their teams will compete. About 40 first aid teams will enter.

Poisons Should Be Labeled Boldly In Medicine Chest

Suggest Pins be Placed in Corks of Bottles Holding Poisonous Drugs

Madison — "Poison" in big red letters is the word which should be clearly printed on medicine bottles and boxes, containing poisons, is the suggestion of the state medical society in its health bulletin this week.

"Many poisonings occur in the bathroom. If poisons must be on hand, the bottles should be plainly marked and, to eliminate the danger of mistaking a bottle at night, pins should be inserted in the cork. Four or five pins in the cork of a bottle containing poison will warn you, when reaching in the medicine chest that your hand is on a bottle containing poison. If there are children in the house the poisonous drugs should be placed under lock and key.

Out of Reach

"The medicine chest should be placed out of the reach of the small child. Accidents are bound to happen when the tiny tot can and does reach the medicine chest. If he doesn't upset bottles and boxes all over himself, he eats laxative pills which taste like candy but contain strychnine, or he drinks some liquid which, if taken in too large a quantity, will prove fatal.

"All medicine containers containing poison should be labeled 'Poison.' Then too, the skull and crossbones on a red label have a psychic affect that will usually stop all but the most absent-minded.

Turn on Light

"Do not take medicines in the dark. It is better to walk a step more and turn on the light than to swallow a mouthful of poison by mistake.

"All boxes and bottles of remedies should be marked with name, use, dosage, and date of purchase. They should be tightly closed, and if possible, the bottles should have glass stoppers.

"Check up your medicine chest and protect your family from accidents which might result in their death. Label all medicines carefully, and have some means of telling a substance containing poison from one which doesn't. Remember to have your medicine chest well out of the reach of small children."

8 Pupils on Honor Roll At Badger Rural School

Eight students were on the honor roll at the Badger school, town of Grand Chute, for the last six weeks, according to Miss Ellen Hurley, teacher. They are Lee Neumann, William Meyer, Verona Welhouse, Leona Miller, Violet Franzke, Beatrice Heckel, Ruth Neuman and Doris Ann Woehler.

The following pupils completed their Reading Circle work for the year: William Meyer, Jack Timm, Donald Welhouse, Doris Ann Woehler, Allen Franzke, Howard La Bresch, Violet Franzke, Douglas Peterman and Verona Welhouse. Those perfect in attendance during the six weeks were Blanch Welhouse, Antonette Welhouse, Ruth Neumann, Mary Ann Welhouse, Violet Franzke, Paul Schubert, Donald Welhouse, James Schmieder, Jerry Schmieder, Edward Meyer, Roman Welhouse and Lee Neumann.

CATCH COLD EASILY?

People who catch cold easily and who have trouble getting rid of colds should give this condition serious thought. A "cold" may be the forerunner of a more serious disease or it may indicate a run-down condition which makes infection easy. Physicians have found that Vitamin D in the form of irradiated yeast tablets, helps to build up a resistance to colds and other respiratory infections. Vitamin D, in combination with Vitamins B and C, is a potent factor in building up a run-down condition. These vitamins enable the body to turn food into energy; they stimulate normal bowel action, and "tone-up" the entire system. Ray-D Irradiated Yeast Tablets are rich in Vitamin D (each tablet containing the equivalent of 2 teaspoonsful of ordinary cod liver oil) in combination with Vitamins B and C. They are considered by many physicians the most potent and economical source of these health-protecting vitamins. They are palatable, convenient and easy to take. RAY-D IRRADIATED YEAST TABLETS, $1 for a package of 200, at leading druggists.—(Adv.)

Housing Program Is Sensible One, Lawrence States

Chance of Loss to Insuring Authority Relatively Small

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Of all the various plans and proposals of the Roosevelt administration to help recovery, none offers as much promise or is based on a better principle of private capital than the suggestion for the financing of new construction of small homes with a 10 per cent down payment.

This feature—the 10 per cent down payment—is criticized in some quarters as risky, but experience of the government shows that the chances of loss to the insuring authority—the Federal Housing Administration—are relatively small.

One of the reasons why the public looks askance perhaps at the idea of a prospective home owner borrowing 90 per cent and putting up only 10 per cent of the cost of house and lot combined is that, for generations, the customary lending has been on about 50 per cent of the valuation, and then a second trust usually had to be provided for about 25 per cent and a property owner had to supply the remaining 25 per cent as cash.

But it is overlooked by many nowadays that the old 50 per cent value mortgage was renewed for 3-year intervals as a rule, and some of them were never paid off or curtailed in any way. Today, the government proposes to stand back of the banks by insuring loans made on properties that are to be paid off in monthly installments spread out over 20 years. What does this mean as compared to the old system?

First of all, in the case of a $6,000 property, the monthly installments on the $5,400 loan are such that, at the end of five years, the margin of equity owned is 25 per cent, so the loan is 75 per cent of the value of the property. Also, the property owner, at the end of the first five years, is in the same position as he was in the old days when he had a first mortgage of $3,000 and a second mortgage balance of $1,800. But the payments on that second mortgage were usually heavy and a default in them might cost the owner his property and a complete loss of his $1,800 equity.

Second Mortgage

The second mortgage situation in America for many years has been notoriously bad. Heavy commissions and extortionate charges often have deterred those who have wanted to build their own homes. It is true that the second mortgage lenders felt they were undergoing a great risk because the first mortgage holder could foreclose the property and wipe out the second mortgage lender unless the latter wanted to buy in the house at a foreclosure sale and hold it for some future disposition.

If the property was properly valued in the first place and if there happened to be a market in which the house could be readily sold, the second mortgage lender could come out all right, but too often, as neighborhoods changed their character or as cities lost large payrolls due to various causes, the value of real estate would go down. Much might be said in favor of the second mortgage lender's position, but this does not erase the fact that the failure to solve the second mortgage problem has had more to do with preventing the housing shortage from being met than any other factor, with the exception possibly of building costs themselves.

The federal government, under president Roosevelt's leadership, stepped into the breach and determined to wipe out the second mortgage idea altogether by making a simple first mortgage and requiring monthly installments from the very beginning. In addition to the interest, a slight insurance fee is charged, which is really a reserve to take care of the instances in which property owners have defaulted on their payments and forced the lenders to sell the property.

Thus, every man who borrows money to build a home and meets his payments punctually pays a slight fee to take care of those cases where the payments are unfortunately not met. It is the same principle as the finance companies use which sell automobiles on the installment plan.

The low rate of insurance for housing loans now in vogue—and it is to be slightly reduced by the Federal Housing Administration's new plan—is based on the experience of the American people with installment financing, on durable articles that can be repossessed and readily sold, reveals a relatively small loss to the lenders.

Must Occupy Home

It should be clearly understood that the 90 per cent loan or 10 per cent down payment applies to houses of $6,000 or under which are to be occupied by the owners themselves, that is by the persons who borrow the money. The loans based on 80 per cent of the valuation with a 20 per cent down payment apply on homes above the $6,000 class and also must be owner-occupied.

What the small down payment plan really does is to make it possible for a family to use part of its savings to furnish and equip the house and this, in turn, means business for the furniture dealers, and those who sell equipment of various kinds for the small homes. A couple with $1,000 saved up can put $600 in the down payment needed for the $6,000 home and have $400 to put into furniture and equipment. Incidentally, the interest rate is 5 per cent whether above or below the $6,000 class, but the insurance rate is one-fourth of one per cent in the case of the $6,000 houses and one-half of one per cent in those above $6,000. To put it another way, the total cost of interest and insurance is to be about five and a quarter per cent for the small homes and five and a half per cent for the homes above the $6,000 mark.

The federal government itself does not, of course, lend the money. The banks do it. But the federal government stands ready to guarantee the loans if made according to the rules laid down by the federal housing administration. This means that the banks run practically no risk. This affords an opportunity for the great sums of idle money in the banks to be put to work. Incidentally, about $750,000,000 worth of construction has been made possible under the FHA since the first legislation was passed. The revision and improvement of the existing plan is expected to stimulate small home construction, though, to be sure, a reduction in building costs will have to come also as a companion item to the federal government's reduction of interest and insurance rates.

The question of whether the plan will work out with small loss or no loss is related to the appraisals of the property. If the appraisals made by the banks and the government are too high, then obviously, in case of a default on payments, the loss would be to the property at a foreclosure sale will cause a loss to the lenders and ultimately to the government. But the whole housing plan depends on efficient administration anyway, and appraisals must be conservative to make the plan effective.

A Muffin a Day Keeps Cathartics Away

If you suffer from common constipation here's good news for you. One good-sized muffin every day, made with Kellogg's All-Bran, will keep you "REGULAR." All-Bran puts two of Nature's own laxatives back in your diet. Instead of over-stimulating your intestines, it gives them things they need. First, "bulk"—All-Bran absorbs water and softens like sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. Second, vitamin "B,"—the amazing vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract. Kellogg's All-Bran is a crunchy, toasted cereal. Eat it with milk or cream and fruits—or in muffins. But however you eat it, use it REGULARLY, eat two table-spoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation and cathartics, too! Every grocer sells All-Bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Prohibit Sale of Fruits Excessive In Spray Residue

State Department Takes Action to Protect Consumer

Withdrawal from sale of fruits and vegetables containing excessive spray residue is ordered by the state department of agriculture and markets to protect the consumer, Harry Klueter, chief of the dairy and food division explained today in a communication to R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agricultural agent.

Until the objectionable spray residue can be removed the fruits and vegetables are withheld from the market. He further explained that one of the many activities of the state department is an educational program carried on among fruit and vegetable growers on regulation of the spray calendar so as to apply the last spray at a time early enough to have most of it removed by the fall rains prior to harvesting. "An idea of the importance of this work may be gained from the fact that the federal drug and food administration has for several years used approximately one-third of its annual appropriation of $500,000 for work of this kind," Klueter pointed out.

The state department cooperates with the federal drug and food administration in testing interstate shipments of fruit and vegetables for residues of arsenical and other sprays in excess of the amount permitted by the federal pure food laws.

High Ridge Students Make Indian Exhibit

An Indian study project has been completed by the third grade students of the High Ridge school, town of Greenville. Using 6-foot poles for the framework, a large Indian, tepee was built. Covering was made of burlap bags while decorations were Indian pictures and designs. In connection with the project the students also made posters and booklets, arrowheads, bows and arrows and other Indian relics were displayed.

Pupils perfect in attendance during the last six weeks of school were Alvin Hankemeier, Marilyn Pingel, Harland Schroeder, David Hankemeier, Ruby Schroeder, Ruth

THE WAGE-HOUR BILL

The Administration certainly counted upon the farmer's help in pushing through the bill for the political regulation of wages and hours. But the farmers have looked beyond their noses and even beyond the present political horizon, and they have seen evils in the measure that it had been hoped would not come to their view. One of the principal evils is that they will be expected to pay and bear the growing pains under the new statute and though they groan they must salute and say they like it.

Congressman Fuller, a faithful Arkansas Democrat, denounced the proposed measure because "it would create a drastic, autocratic, dictatorial board of five members, clothed with authority to direct the destinies of the farmers, the laborers, small merchants and the industries of America."

This is a fine way, indeed, to talk about the millennium, the Abundant Life. Heretofore when we have set up a bureaucracy we extolled the virtues of its pure unblemished members, of their pure and always correct action, and therefore of the pure and righteous lives we must all lead. A Board appointed by the All-highest would certainly see all, know all, and positively say all.

But these dream children of the administration have one after another peered out. Each has demanded an army of employees that makes our regular army look insignificant. They have crossed swords formulating codes, making rules and regulations, levying fines and jail sentences, puffing up and down the country knocking good people off their balance while they were at work.

Instead of men of pure thought upon these boards we found them loaded with political hacks, waddling geese and quacking ducks. They have created red tape that nearly reaches to the moon. To carry through their maze of operations the simplest business matter means an accumulation of gray hair for those involved. And like the congress that created them they will pass the buck if their pride at using authority is not involved.

But the Atlantic seaboard is very much concerned about this measure. It understands it thoroughly. It knows who will be helped. It appreciated that far-sighted industrialists do not look upon its territory favorably when it comes to establishing new or even extending old industries.

If it could only obtain in one board the power to fix wages and hours in this country, and get some more high grade Klansmen to sit, the future would be safe. It could stop up the caravans of moving machinery going into the Middle West. It could thus force the rest of the country to pay for its age-old political corruption and extravagance.

And that is so obvious that the newly elected Republican senator from Massachusetts, who spent all his time in the campaign upbraiding the Roosevelt administration, is for the Wage-Hour bill with everything he can carry. That gentleman is Senator Lodge from Boston.

After we have everything nailed down in this country so it can't be moved around shouldn't the people of Wisconsin be assessed a tax to be turned over to residents of Kansas and Nebraska? We have, you know, a land of charming lakes and rushing rivers, a veritable garden of Eden in which to live, whereas the plainsman fights a burning sun in summer and blustering blizzards in winter.

Another Board ought to be able to equalize things of that character.

ARGUMENT FOR PEACE

The pessimists say the world is topsyturvy and that it is not likely there will be, ever again, friendship between peoples and Nations that is unclouded by suspicion.

Perhaps they are right. Those who are not so pessimistic can, however, find cheer in the demonstration of international friendliness that marks the thirty-seventh International Live Stock exposition now in progress in Chicago.

Solid, substantial stockmen of the United States and Canada, rub elbows with Belgians, Britons, Germans, Irish, Danes, Italians, Brazilians and the owners of great ranches in the Argentine.

Those men have a common interest. They have no quarrel with each other.

They benefit from the exchange of ideas. In turn, millions are benefited.

The International exposition demonstrates that men of many nations have much in common and that they can be friends when politicians permit.

Some day, it is hoped, all men will recognize that truth.

NOTHING LIKE EXPERIENCE, MR. GREEN

Mr. Green of the AFL is just about through with parlor socialism.

In this particular case he turns his back upon the Black-Connerly wage-hour bill and reminds that "with trial and error as a teacher bureaucracy has proved fatally defective because it has disrupted tried and tested principles of collective bargaining between capital and labor."

Here then is one sound fruit of the AFL-CIO squabble because these sometimes violent differences of opinion brought the organizations in touch with a vast bureaucracy headed by the National Labor Relations Board, an institution that was presumed to be not only honest but intelligent and beyond the power of influence,—but it wasn't.

It is a better sign of the level-headedness of America that there is difficulty in even getting this wage-hour bill to a vote. Already we may feel the friction on our bodies of this detestable, political, usually pin-headed and often corrupt bureaucracy just as the citizen of 500 years ago felt the rude friction of the armor he wore.

Congressman Dies, leading Democrat, probably reflected a nation-wide feeling, at least common to all those who ever had anything to do with bureaucracy, when he recently declared:

"I can see no distinction between the Fascist states of Italy and Germany and the condition in America where a large number of important functions of government are wielded, not by congress, not by any agency directly responsible to the will of the people, but functions of far-reaching importance, are daily and hourly performed by men whose names are unknown, men who treat members of congress with utter contempt, men who come into my district with arrogance that is almost akin to autocracy, and insult my constituency."

"There must come a time when you and I must assume our legislative responsibility under the constitution and legislate, not by directing some agency or board to do something, as we do in this Wages-and-Hours bill, but by saying to ourselves, can we write a definite law? And if we can, then let us write it."

When we can add to this wage-hour bill a measure throwing farmers in jail for raising potatoes and fining them for exceeding their quantities of corn, wheat or rice, then we will have reached a condition called static. The farmer can never advance and neither can the worker. The standard in America will be just about at the level of its most shiftless and indifferent worker.

Ambition will be dead, effort will be useless.

Yet there is an advantage plainly to be seen in this scheme, an advantage for a small group of blue bloods with a sufficient fortune to maintain landed estates and without sufficient energy to keep up the husky march of the American people.

They ought to be pretty safe and pretty well protected under this plan.

THEY CALL IT AN ELECTION

In a strange Oriental land of cruelty and blood baths they are to hold an election shortly. It will be on the Hitler order. Either vote right or else. The most interesting thing about this election is really the matter of lead pencils, rare and costly in Russia, much more intriguing than the vote that is as cut and dried as a salted cod.

The Moscow Pravda points out that anyone with itching fingers who runs away with one of those lead pencils left in the ballot booths will be regarded "as Trotskyist-German-Japanese spies, traitors and enemies of the people."

If that's what a fellow is because he takes a lead pencil heaven save him if he took a fountain pen.

But to stop there would be to misunderstand Russian philosophy. If an assassin kills a working man he may be put in prison for as much as seven years. He is looked upon tenderly as a poor, misguided fellow. But if he steals a little pencil that belongs to the state or shoots a civil servant of that state then all the raging fury of Satan's home is unleashed in his destruction.

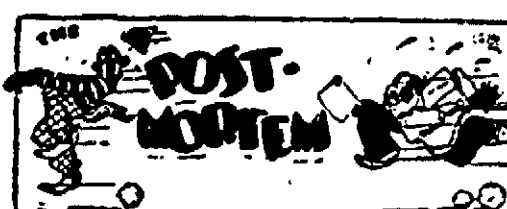

None of which looks to us though it protects the working man as he should be protected. And this in a Worker's Paradise!

ELIJAH LOVEJOY

It is hard to realize that only 100 years ago an editor was shot to death in Alton, Ill., defending his printing press from an angry mob for the fourth time within 18 months. It is even more difficult for 1937 to conceive that Elijah Lovejoy went to his death and that four of his printing plants were destroyed because he advocated the gradual emancipation of enslaved Negroes. He was no stormy William Lloyd Garrison, but a preacher-editor who set forth his editorial gospel calmly and trusted to the eventual triumph of moral justice. He was shot as he tried to keep the mob from burning the building in which his latest press had been stored, pending its installation in the place of three machines that the slavery advocates had burned, scrapped, or thrown into the river.

We haven't heard enough of Elijah Lovejoy, honored though he has been in Alton, where he died, and by Colby college, from which he was graduated at the head of his class. He did not

TO THOSE who may be inclined to criticize the Pittsburgh boys for voting against any kind of a post-season bowl game, I shake a mild finger of reproval. . . in the first place, Pitt is topsy for the season throughout the country. . . in the second place, the boys have every reason to want to lay off the heavy grind of practice (and ask any boy who has practiced long hours throughout the fall and into the winter how well he likes it) after having been at it for the past three months or longer. . . in the third place, they are admittedly at Pitt for financial reasons (although their pay is certainly low for the results they achieved) and no provision was made for practicing football throughout the semester. . . and in the fourth place there might even be some of them who would like an opportunity to catch up on the lessons. . . besides, the state of California is old stuff to most of the squad and the boys remember how poorly they fared in an entertainment way at the Rose Bowl game last year. . . while the losing Washington team was accorded a royal time. . .

By the way, since the Rose Bowl affair is so completely a commercialized venture, why should college teams bother with it anyway? Why not let the championship eastern pro team go out west and play the championship west coast team?

AN OLD SONG WITH A NEW TUNE

I want to dine, perhaps with wine,
 With Jonah-the-Coroner's bunch;
 A juicy roast and a snappy toast,
 And maybe a bowl of punch.

I want to be with Dee Jay Cee,
 Ezekiel, the Democrat,
 The Bundie and Blon De and Pickaway,
 And Jane McCarthy Pat.

I want to meet in an old Dutch treat,
 With all of the jolly crew,
 And after the roast, we'll have a toast
 From Mrs. G. W.

If the plan is good, and you think we should,
 In spite of this awful rhyme,
 Just write your say to Jonah today,
 And he will choose place and time,—Maybe.

—D Grade Pulp

The idea is excellent, and as indicated by D Grade Pulp, has been broached before, notably by Blon De who is long since missing from the ranks. Maybe it could be worked, but I'd have to provide boxing gloves and a referee. Besides, who's gonna pay the bill?

A Verse for Today

CHRISTMAS FRUIT CAKE

We're making our Christmas fruit cake
 And all through the house the scent
 Of spices and fruit and sugar
 Reveals this first sacrament.
 The children run homeward bringing
 Their friends from the neighborhood,
 And stop in the doorway, asking:
 "What makes the house smell so good?"

Our mother, with no thought other
 Than blending the spicy mess,
 Is flurried and flushed while making
 This gesture to Happiness.
 The children's first thoughts of Christmas
 Start springing from her empiric.
 They laugh, as they sniff the goodies,
 With dreams in their glad young eyes!

We're making our Christmas fruit cake.
 We'll carefully put away,
 To serve with our Christmas coffee,
 A slice from a bygone day!
 Our Christmas, with added meaning,
 Will dawn like a dream come true,
 Because we succeed in blending
 The happy old times with the new!

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Dec. 1, 1927

The Outagamie county tax levy for 1928 is $745,552.95, or approximately $47,000 less than the amount raised in 1927, according to the final report of John E. Hantschel, county clerk. Outagamie county needs a new courthouse or at least a large addition to the present structure, Thomas H. Ryan, Third ward supervisor of Appleton, told members of the Kiwanis club at a meeting yesterday noon.

A son was born Wednesday afternoon at Thea Clark Memorial hospital to Mr. and Mrs. George Christoph, Neenah.

Miss Phyllis Gustin has a leading role in the high school opera, "The Dragon of Wu Foo," which will be presented at Fischer's Appleton theater Monday night.

W. P. Hagman, principal of the Outagamie Rural Normal school has been chosen chairman of the midwinter fair by the Kaukauna Advancement association.

edit a paper destined for fame, but the little St. Louis Observer, official journal of the Presbyterians of Missouri and Illinois. He didn't own a stick of it—he was just a hired editor with a fervent Christian faith and the courage to write his convictions. His paper was driven from St. Louis to Alton.

When its enemies pursued it and again destroyed its plant the citizens of Alton in public meeting disavowed the act, raised money for a new press and heard Lovejoy make a peroration that should stand as his epitaph and a working creed for all in modern journalism. His closing remarks were:

"As long as I am an American citizen and as long as American blood runs in these veins, I shall hold myself at liberty to speak, to write, and to publish whatever I please on any subject, being amenable to the laws of my country for the same."

AND WHAT IF HE'S NOT PLAYING POSSUM

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
 Noted Physician and Author

OXYGEN DEFICIT

Anhedonia is incapacity for happiness, inability to enjoy life. It is a state of mind, of course, but even so, it may depend on a physical condition. A psychologist is a fellow who sets out to be a physician or even a physician, stumbles upon an imposing term or idea, such as inferiority complex or released inhibition, and finds it so popular that he discontinues his studies and takes to writing articles for the magazines and popular books. The one that invented anhedonia might have discovered, had he persevered with his study of physiology, that there is more than just an idea or an attitude in anhedonia.

Another definition of anhedonia is absence of pleasures from the performance of acts which are pleasurable to a normal individual; failure to get a "kick" out of doing things. Some "killjoys" are obviously sick and their sufferings sufficiently explain their cheerless disposition. Others are apparently well, free from any evident disease or ailment, simply lack relish, gusto, zest, well-being, felicity.

Chronic anoxia is what ails a good many of these anhedonics. This is my opinion—probably you will not find it in any textbook or hear it from any authority until 1943 or later. But meanwhile it will do no harm to try it on your anhedonia if you have a touch of it.

Anoxia is a deficit of oxygen in the tissues and cells. Acute anoxia is asphyxia. Chronic anoxia may be due wholly to frequent or daily exposure to carbon monoxide in the atmosphere—the carbon monoxide crowds out oxygen. Again it is often due to slow metabolism or a low metabolic rate. Shallow breathing alone may account for chronic anoxia, although it is hardly possible to correct shallow breathing by conscious active deep breathing. Unconscious or automatic passive deeper breathing induced by a reasonable amount of exercise corrects it; exercise increases the absorption of oxygen by blood, tissues and cells of the body.

Vitamins have a good deal to do with metabolism, the oxidation process. We told here recently how the administration of vitamin D to a hedgehog prevented the hibernation or brought the animal out of its winter dormant state. Vitamin B is essential for the metabolism of carbohydrate material, the main part of human metabolism, energy metabolism, heat metabolism.

Thyroid and perhaps other hormones or ductless gland (endocrine) secretions participate in the control of metabolism.

Jodine activates thyroid gland function and increases metabolism, the absorption of oxygen. Girl in her early teens who gets insufficient jodine and develops simple goiter, or hypothyroidism without apparent goiter, is characterized by anhedonia, mopish, languid, singularly lacking in the joyous spirit which is normal in youth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 Heredity of Diabetes
 You mentioned heredity as being a factor of diabetes. Anxious to prove this, (E. A. H., Attorney)

Answer—It is a question of opinion. Perhaps you will get some help by consulting Joslin's "Diabetes" (Leon and Febiger, Philadelphia, 1935) which contains a chapter on the heritance of a deficiency.

Immunity to Cri
 Recen told vitamin A in halibut liver oil capsules will build resistance to head colds. (A. G.)

Answer—I do not believe vitamin A is concerned with immunity. I believe vitamin D tends to build up a low immunity to common respiratory infections, provided you get enough—say 6,000 to 10,000 or 12,000 units a day.

Bowlegs

Is it possible for a girl of 18 to get rid of bowlegs by exercise or any other means? (M. Z.)

Answer—No. Bowlegs in a person over six years of age can be straightened only by an orthopedic operation on the bent bones. Accumulation of fat makes the legs appear less bowed.

Your Birthday

"SAGITTARIUS"

If December 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., and from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m., from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m. and from 10:30 p. m. until midnight.

Fire may be an element to be considered this day, for carelessness may have devastating results. Smokers, particularly, must use the greatest of care where they throw matches, or lay down cigars or cigarettes. First impressions are apt to be lasting ones, and your personal appearance might have a decided bearing on the opinion that someone will form about you.

There will be a tendency to ignore what may seem to be trifling details, which, however, are likely to develop into important ones. Some small item, overlooked, can turn out to be a very disturbing factor in your affairs. Married and engaged couples, as well as those eager to get a helpmate, ought to try to cooperate in the furthering of social activities or any question pertaining to relaxation.

If a woman and December 3 is your birthday, you may give in too much to your own personal likes and dislikes. You must consider the wishes of others, to enjoy harmonious conditions in your home or place of business. Your ought to be well-fitted to do work of an executive nature, or to direct the efforts of others. You probably have a quick temper that you have learned to control. Yet ought to have little difficulty in becoming a social leader through popularity. Wealth may come to you in a very unexpected way.

Through writing, radio work, acting, painting, the playing of a musical instrument or selling you may earn large sums of money. Your married life if likely to be one of continual honeymoon.

The child born on December 3 is usually very attractive, blessed with a happy disposition and a gift for making friends. When school days are a thing of the past, ambition, combined with optimism, ought to enable this youngster to successfully scale all barriers to success.

If a man and December 3 is your natal day, you are most likely an earnest worker and never satisfied unless you are busy. As an architect, botanist, agriculturalist, mining engineer, actor, artist, author or salesman you should be a money-maker.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—Twenty-seven framed pictures, some of them photographs and most of them autographed, hang on the walls of John Golden's office in West 44th street, and two of them are paintings of Golden himself. It isn't generally known that this big, bass-voiced ex-writer of songs once seriously considered art as a career.

"But that was before I knew I was to become a lousy theatrical producer," he booms, reaching for a de-nicotined cigarette and flipping the match into an open-mouthed bust of Pallas, which serves as an ashtray. "I tried a lot of things in those days."

"Tell me about them."

"Well, no," he cries. "I don't like that reminiscent stuff. Let's talk about tomorrow. I'm only beginning."

So my eyes wandered about that long, luxurious office, with its two pianos, its originals by Joseph Cummings Chase, its soft blue rugs, its massive, richly red upholstered furniture, its memorabilia of a thousand and one Opening Nights. They came to rest finally on a blue-bound manuscript lying on the desk.

"A new play?"

Golden's hands closed over the mimeographed screed.

"Here," he said, "is a sure winner, a play by a corking writer and it will make a quarter of a million dollars. But I'm not going to produce it. If I did, every critic in town would be on my neck."

"But why?"

"Because it has one scene that is too carnal, too lurid. Other producers could take it, and some of them undoubtedly will, and the critics will rave about it. But by one of those curious twists of fate there has grown up about me a legend that Golden's plays never even approach the risqué border. It has now become so believed that I wouldn't dare present a play that touched, however, lightly, on a forbidden theme."

"Then that trade-mark is going to cost you money."

"Sure, but then, what the hell—a man shouldn't want more than enough money to have one bad and two silk hats. Two silk hats are enough for anybody. More than two silk hats would be a vulgar ostentation of wealth. I don't want to be rich. I think it's a time when we all should take less and give more."

There you have something of this man who likes to put on the gloves and spar with Gene Tunney, who shoots ducks every winter on his estate near Great Neck, L. I., who believes sincerely that the receipt for success is "a few brains and a lot of breaks."

So he goes blithely about his shores of rejecting plays that tilt a little dangerously to the unsavory side and selecting others that need no errands of the flesh to justify their existence.

"Susan and God" is a case in point. It is witty and wise and there isn't a single offensive line in it. What is more, it is wholly and altogether a smash hit.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Senator Norris of Nebraska is back on the job and he is not in the slightest pleased by the administration's disposition to cooperate with the public utilities.

He represents one phase of a baffling situation. For at the time he expresses his displeasure, out of the White House marches a string of utility officials beaming with confidence that their end is not yet and it is safe to begin spending for expansion and betterment.

Norris helped carry the torch for the public utility holding company bill of 1935 which decreed death to multiple holding companies by 1940. It is Norris who is carrying the torch for the 7-TVA bill under which it is proposed to set up regional authorities patterned after the Tennessee Valley authority power development and all. And Norris is a close friend of the President.

When Chairman Douglas of the securities and exchange commission, which administers the holding company bill, proposed to go slow for a time, Norris disapproved. He blamed the development of the holding company in the past 25 years for overcapitalization of the utilities industry.

Norris Wouldn't Follow

"I have never yet seen anyone who could justify the existence of a holding company beyond the first degree," he says.

A holding company is a corporation created to hold securities issued by other corporations, such as operating power and light companies. Defenders of holding companies insist they are useful to consolidate management, to pool finances, and to assure stability to operating companies. But not even their defenders deny that holding companies have been used as means of bleeding operating companies by extracting earnings which should have been put back for plant improvement and rate reduction.

Norris gave the senate an example of a utility system in which holding companies were piled on 11 deep—holding companies holding other companies, which held other holding companies, and so on down the ladder until the operating companies were so burdened with upstairs issues of stock that efficient management seemed impossible.

And when Douglas proposed to go slow in discharging such setups so the utility companies would take courage and spend more money for expansion, Norris wouldn't follow him.

The president himself, on the other hand, is committed to speeding up enactment of the bill creating seven flood control and power authorities, although in the long distance view they seem to run counter to his invitation to the power companies to proceed confidently with expansion programs.

Report Sent to Congress

The report seems a bit mixed. For, moreover, in the hour that President Roosevelt conferred with utility magnates, he sent to congressional power committees a dynamic report by the New York (state) power authority defending proposed hydro-electric development along the St. Lawrence. It was strictly a state report—but the president released it. And it was highly critical of the utilities.

Psalms Have Enriched Literature of World, Fortnightly Club Hears

THE daughter of Herbert Laffin, legal counsel for the Northwestern Mutual Insurance company and Masonic leader, Mrs. Helen Laffin Linley, Milwaukee, earned a reputation in her own right when she spoke to members of the Fortnightly club and their guests Wednesday afternoon on "The Psalms and Their Legends." The meeting was held at the new home of Mrs. Edward F. Mielke, E. River drive, who was assisted as hostess by Mrs. M. G. Boon, Mrs. Homer Benton, Mrs. William Schubert, Mrs. George Wettengel and Mrs. E. L. Bolton.

Because she has the ability of transmitting her enthusiasm to her audience, Mrs. Linley was able to make her audience feel and enjoy much of the appreciation she herself has for the poetry of the Psalms. She called the Psalter the heart of the Old Testament, because it is the center of its emotion. Its songs, she declared, had been sung throughout history and had enriched the world with a literature that will outlive the ages.

She read a number of the Psalms and told how they were connected with historical events and literature. She explained how Psalm 6 had been recited by King Henry II in repentance for the murder of Thomas Becket and how it has since been read in the churches of England on each Ash Wednesday; how Psalm 23 is said to have "charmed more griefs to rest than all philosophies in the world"; how Psalm 45 inspired the writing of Luther's "A Mighty Fortress is Our God"; and how Psalm 10 is mentioned by Longfellow in his "The Courtship of Miles Standish," where it is sung by Priscilla.

Officers for Year Named By Rebekahs

MRS. Anna Breitenfeldt was elected noble grand of Deborah Rebekah lodge to succeed Mrs. Margaret McGregor at the meeting Wednesday night at Odd Fellow hall. Other officers elected were Mrs. Evelyn Perrine, vice grand; Mrs. Amelia Bloom, recording secretary; Mrs. Effie Eberhart, financial secretary; Mrs. Josephine Burhans, treasurer; Mrs. Alice Ralph, deputy; and Mrs. Carrie McCarter, trustee. Other officers will be appointed by the new noble grand.

A Christmas party, with the exchange of gifts, is planned for the next meeting, on Dec. 15, when the state vice president, Mrs. Hattie Lubitz, Fond du Lac, will be a visitor. Mrs. Barbara Conkey is chairman of the committee in charge of the party.

Plans for another Christmas affair, the annual children's party, were also made at yesterday's meeting. It will be held at 7:30 the evening of Dec. 22 at Odd Fellows hall. Mrs. Evelyn Perrine will be in charge.

Final plans were made for a card party to be held this evening at Appleton State bank building at the meeting of Carpenters' auxiliary, No. 283, Wednesday night. Mrs. Eric Baier will be chairman.

Dice was played after the meeting, prizes going to Mrs. Baier and Mrs. Carl Smith. The next meeting will be Jan. 5.

Election of officers for the coming year will take place at the meeting of Charles O. Baer auxiliary to United Spanish War Veterans at 8 o'clock Friday night at the armory.

Fifteen members were initiated into Appleton aerie of Fraternal Order of Eagles at a meeting last night at Eagle hall. The Neenah degree team conducted the initiation and a social hour followed.

A social night and dance for Eagles and their ladies will be held Friday night at Eagle hall.

German Youth Program

To Be Theme of Talk

"Youth Programs in Germany" will be the subject of a talk by Miss Edith Groehn, Hamburg, Germany, at the meeting of D. E. E. club of First Congregational church at 7:30 Friday night at the church. Miss Groehn is a student at Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

Moose Women Will Collect Stamps for Sanatorium Patients

Women of the Moose will collect canceled stamps to be sent to the Swedish national sanatorium near Denver, Colo., for destitute tubercular patients, it was decided at a meeting of the chapter Wednesday night at Moose hall. Mrs. Marie Cavert was appointed chairman of this project.

Plans were made for a Christmas party Dec. 15 with the following committee in charge: Mrs. Emma Aures, Mrs. Viola Nowell, Mrs. Emma Nowell, Mrs. Mae Mueller and Mrs. Marie Cavert. A joint Christmas party for members of Moose lodge, the chapter and their children will be held sometime this month with Mrs. Viola Nowell as chairman. Mrs. Joseph Yohr, Mrs. Emma Nowell and Mrs. Sophia Karweick as assistants.

Mrs. Margaret McGregor displayed a quilt which the chapter made for a Mooseheart mother and plans were made for remembering four Mooseheart children at Christmas time. Mrs. Ruth Coonen was named chairman of the Tuesday afternoon card parties for December.

A social hour was held with Mrs. Rose Kauffert of Menasha and Mrs. Coonen of Appleton as hostesses. Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Richard Wenzel and Mrs. Agnes Haferbecker and schafkopf awards by Mrs. Karweick and Mrs. Emma Aures.

W. R. Monteith, 1413 W. College avenue, will be hostess.

Alden Megrew, instructor in art history, appreciation at Lawrence college, will give an illustrated lecture on Mexico at the meeting of the current events class at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the art room of the college library. It will be the last lecture in the course.

P. E. O. Sisterhood will meet at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. E. Carnross, 826 E. Alton street. Mrs. Ward Wheeler will present the program, reviewing Noel Coward's "Present Indicative."

15 Girls to Take Test for Hostess Badge Saturday

MRS. Charles Flory will conduct a hostess badge examination for Girl Scouts who are prepared at 9:30 Saturday morning at the scout office. The work requires knowledge of the duties of receiving, introducing and planning for guests, the ability to write various kinds of social letters and knowledge of the duties of guests.

The group to be examined will be limited to 15 girls who will be required to bring letters including formal and informal invitations and acknowledgments with them Saturday. Proficiency badge activity is under the direction of the badges and awards committee of the local council of which Mrs. John Ruhling is chairman.

The sixth session of the Girl Scout leaders training course will be held at 7 o'clock this evening at the Girl Scout office with Miss Dorothy Calnin, local director, in charge. Signaling and first class projects will be stressed at the meeting and discussions will center around the problems of presentation of material.

Girl Scouts of Cloverleaf troop of Columbus school entertained their mothers and teachers at a tea Wednesday afternoon at the school. Folk dances and impromptu playlets provided entertainment. Miss Marion Neumann, leader of the troop, spoke of the duties of troop committee members and explained the progress of the troop.

The court of honor of the troop including patrol leaders, scribe and treasurer, was in charge of the party. The group included Eunice Nuoffer, Carol Kanouse, Elaine Smyrnoos, Pearl Hoffman, Shirley Leisen and Eunice Parker.

Modern Short Story Has Merit, Women are Told

COMMENTING on certain aspects of the modern short story, Warren Beck, professor of English at Lawrence college, told the American Association of University Women at its meeting Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Richard White, S. Albia drive, that the short story was taking part in the general renaissance of literary art.

In contrast to what he called the "stereotyped and childish" stories which appear in the popular magazines to "lure the maximum number of suckers within snipping range of the advertisement," the modern short story of merit is concerned with life, not with day-dreams, he said.

Forces setting the renaissance of the short story, Professor Beck explained, are the revival of local color, which contributed so much to the vitality of the short story in the nineteenth century; the comparatively new science of psychology which is furnishing literary men with fresh material; and increased social consciousness, dealing with such important problems as economic security, personal liberty and the avoidance of war.

The best of the modern stories, he went on, have more in common with the stories of Hawthorne and Irving than with those of O. Henry and Poe, who came later. Washington Irving brought to the forefront local color and American types of personality. Hawthorne, he said, went beyond local color so that his stories became universal in their psychological profundity.

Poe overrated the father of the modern short story, he vastly overrated, Professor Beck declared. He depicted his widespread use in high schools. His great contribution was the theory of unification and singleness of effect, improvements which the rambling stories of the nineteenth century needed, he said.

And yet one of the best of the modern short stories, "A Sum in Addition," by William March, which Professor Beck read, achieves no singleness of dramatic effect, he pointed out. Violating

Club Hears How Character Is Shown by Handwriting

ILLUSTRATING her talk with blackboard work, Mrs. Bertha W. Hall, Chicago, handwriting expert, addressed about 50 persons at Appleton Woman's club last night on the subject of handwriting as it reveals character and personal traits. She explained what the various loops, curves, broken letters and other peculiarities in handwriting indicate as to a person's character and told her listeners how they can recognize their own shortcomings and attributes through an analysis of their writing. Her lecture was sponsored by the Federated Appleton Woman's club.

This evening the regular current events and book review groups of the club will meet at 7:30 at the club house. Mrs. W. S. Mason will review a play and Miss Lois Gould, instructor at Appleton High school, will conduct the discussion of current events.

Reservations for the 6:30 supper and card party which the club will sponsor for the public Friday night may be made at the club office.

Mrs. Oscar Kunitz won the prize at auction bridge and Miss Emma Voge and Mrs. Gust Reimer at contract.

Bauer Gets High Praise Of Critics

HAROLD BAUER, internationally famous pianist who will present a recital at Memorial chapel at 8:30 tomorrow night, has received praise from critics wherever he has appeared.

Following his appearance at Toronto, Canada, a critic wrote that Bauer's was "the perfect piano recital" and that "he is the exponent of perfect art."

Oscar Thompson of the New York Post remarked last season following one of Bauer's recitals, "It was a recital remarkable for beauty of tone, for the unerring taste and aristocracy with which color and dynamics were used to achieve ends as individual as they were lovely."

This high appreciation is attached to the name of Harold Bauer both here and abroad. He is an acknowledged master of tone. His recital here will mark the second in the Community Artists Series.

Although he is often singled out as the ideal Brahms and Schumann interpreter, his program covers every school and he labors assiduously in behalf of our American composers. He also delves into archives of the past to him goes the credit for re-editing works long forgotten and bringing them into contemporary favor.

In recognition of his valuable services in furthering the interests of French music, he was decorated with the rosette of the Legion of honor in 1927.

Further honor was accorded him when Ravel, the famous composer, dedicated his "Ondine" to him. Born in England, Bauer has lived in the United States for many years, making his home in New York.

The program at his recital tomorrow night follows:

1. Overture Handel
2. Allemande Handel
3. Sarabande Handel
4. Courante Handel
5. Piece Handel
6. Air With Variations Handel
7. Selected and arranged by Harold Bauer
8. Sonata Op. 27, No. 2. (Moonlight) Beethoven
9. (a) Papillons Op. 1 Schumann
10. (b) Rhapsody in E flat, Op. 119 Brahms
11. (a) The Sunken Cathedral Debussy
12. (b) Scherzo in C Minor Chopin

Columbine 4-H Club Will Produce Play

Columbine 4-H club met Wednesday night at Columbia school, route 3, Appleton, and discussed plans for a play, the title or date of which has not been decided. Committees were appointed for a Christmas party to be held Dec. 15. They include Jane Haferbecker, Mae Belle Plamann, Lucy Haef, and Harold Weiland, lunch; Dolores Paltzer, Raymond Bissing, Lester Weiland and Paul Rohloff, entertainment. The next business meeting will be Jan. 12.

Precipitation last month, 1.68 inches was also higher than a year ago, the records show. The figure for 1936 was .8 of an inch.

The warmest day of the past month was Nov. 8 when the mercury climbed up to 61 and the coldest was the morning of Nov. 29 when a reading of five degrees above was recorded. Snowfall last month amounted to only .02 of an inch.

Best Cough Remedy Is Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get the quickest relief from coughs due to colds, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll never use any other kind of cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better medicine than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it has no equal. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

SCHLAFER'S

Poor Defensive Play Gives Declarer Winning Tricks

BY ELY CULBERTSON
Yesterday's question was: Question 56: Both sides vulnerable. You are South, the dealer, and hold:
♠ A K 4 3 ♥ A 6 ♦ A 7 5 2 ♣ S 6 4
The bidding has gone:
South West North East
1 spade Pass 1 no trump Pass
What call do you make now?
Answer: You should pass. Although you have four honor tricks, your hand is far from strong in playing value, and partner's bid, even if an "upper limit" indicates that a game is virtually out of the question. Two points cement for any call other than pass.
TODAY'S QUESTION
Question 57: You are East, defending against three no trump, the bidding having gone:
North East South West
1 spade Pass 1 no trump Pass
2 no trump Pass 3 no trump Pass
West opened the diamond deuce. Dummy and your hand are as follows:
NORTH (Dummy)
♠ A K 9 7
♥ A 8 7
♦ 10 6
EAST
♠ 8 4 3
♥ Q 10 9 2
♦ A 5
♣ K 8 4 3
You go up with the diamond ace. What card do you return?
TODAY'S HAND
North, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
Match point duplicate.
NORTH
♠ K 8 2
♥ A 7 6
♣ A K 10 7 2
EAST
♠ Q 10 9 5 4
♥ Q 8 4 3 2
♦ K Q
SOUTH
♠ A 7 6
♥ 10 9
♣ Q J 4
The bidding:
North East South West
1 club 1 diamond 1 spade Pass
2 spades Pass Pass Double
Pass Pass Pass
South's spade bid was a distinct stretch as a free overall. West, it will be noted, lurked in ambush and held his tongue until the opponents had stopped bidding, then hopped out with a scorching double. At least, it should have been scorching, but under West's horrible defensive play it turned out to be sweetness personified.
The diamond king was the opening lead. East, not knowing who held the diamond queen, signalled with the deuce, asking for a shift. West shifted to his fourth highest heart, dummy ducked, and the king won. Not knowing that declarer has only two hearts, East attempted to establish another heart trick before losing control (as he feared) of the diamond suit. Dummy won the return heart lead and declarer ruffed a heart, then led a diamond. West won, and shifted to a trump. The ten lost to the jack. A diamond was led toward dummy. West, in a futile effort to shut out the eight spot, trumped in with a nine. Dummy overruffed and led a low club to the queen. Another diamond lead put West on the spot. If he trumped with the queen and returned a trump, declarer, with the A-7, would be able to draw West's two remaining trumps and run the

Service Is Important To Patrons

BY ELSIE PIERCE
It all comes under the heading of service and it's something that goes a long way with women. You purchase a pair of stockings and the salesclerk gives you a hint or two for washing them so they'll last longer. You ask for an astringent and the cosmetic saleswoman volunteers that, "If it is for yourself, Madame, you really don't need an astringent—a cream would be better for you." Or, you purchase an expensive foundation cream and are told that the least bit on the tip of your finger is all that you need for one application. You make a purchase and are asked whether you wish it "gift wrapped" and if you do, a little card is also handed to you, should you wish to have a message enclosed. The dentist who is meticulous enough to change the little paper head pads so you know that no other head has touched your set; the manicurist who sterilizes her tools, uses a paper cup in the manicuring bowl and hands you your emory board and orange-wood stick to take home with you—they're performing an extra little service.
Gracious Gesture
These little services are particularly apparent in the better beauty salons. Recently I was delightfully surprised by an offer of "a little cream on your face, while your hair is drying." That is not only a very gracious gesture, but it turns the harsh, drying effect of artificial heat into a virtue, for the heat throws the pores open and makes the skin more receptive to the soothing, lubricating work of the cream. After the hair is dry a little pomade or oil or brilliantine is applied and then the face cream is removed with tissues a little lotion patting on and a complimentary make-up given. All this, without charge. It is all part of service.
Beauty Service
In most salons the hairdressers always take sterilized comb and brush out of a sealed glassine envelope. They start every shampoo with a little brushing. Every permanent is accompanied by test curls and finished with a styled fingerwave and advice as to how to "keep" the hair-do.
Advice is by no means the least of these little services. Experts in these salons or at cosmetic counters are ready to tell you how to dress your hair, what shade of powder to use, how to get the best results from your home treatment. They would rather lose a sale than your good will, remember that. So do show your appreciation of the extra little niceties.

INFORMAL, FESTIVE OCCASIONS

BY ANNE ADAMS
Hardly a day will pass that you won't have a use for this dress. Its easy-to-make lines are so simple that it will be appropriate for the most informal gathering. And yet it is so smart and so flattering that you can wear it with pride on the most festive occasions. Details of special fashion interest are found in the shoulder puff of the long or short sleeves, in the flare of the skirt with its inverted pleat, in tiny buttons that bring youthful flattery to the front and in the ever-so-slightly nipped in lines of waist. Make it with contrasting collar and cuffs, too.
Pattern 4659 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 34 yards 39 inch fabric and 1 yard contrast. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.
Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne-Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.
Fill in those gaps in your wardrobe! Write today for the winter Anne Adams pattern book. In it you'll find countless styles that will carry you through the winter and well into Spring. Smart dresses for women and misses whether they are slim or stout... and gay little clothes for children from two years up. Don't miss this splendid collection. Price of book fifteen cents. Price of pattern fifteen cents. Book and pattern together twenty-five cents.

Submits Suggestions for Rearing Children Properly

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—I have had the luck—for it is the greatest good fortune that can come to any child—to be reared in a happy home in which there was complete understanding, helpfulness and love on the part of my mother and father for each other and for us youngsters. We have worked together and played together and our motto has been: "We are one family and we stand together in everything." When any of us children—we are all grown up now—are sick or discouraged, Mother and Dad are always there to buck us up, and in all times of trouble we find a helping hand to each other. It seems to me that my mother has made such a good job of motherhood that I would like to give her rules for rearing children. Here they are:
First. Respect your children and their rights. Children have an elemental sense of justice and do not resent discipline as long as they feel they are getting fair play.
Second. Don't talk down to your children, no matter what age they may be. Even babies resent being talked down to.
Third. If you want something done, choose the right time and then ask, don't demand, that it be done. It pays to be diplomatic with children.
Fourth. Don't ridicule your children even in fun, particularly in front of their friends. A child doesn't enjoy being caricatured any more than you would.
Fifth. Don't pose as an oracle and pretend to know everything. Your children will respect you a great deal more if you admit your ignorance and apologize when you are in the wrong.
Sixth. Develop a sense of humor. Laugh many things off instead of making a tragedy of them. You can break a child of a bad habit by ridiculing it when you couldn't do it by persuasion or punishment.
Seventh. Don't bring up past unpleasantness. If a child does wrong, deal with him at the moment and then forget it. None of us like having our errors continually thrown in our teeth.
Eighth. Trust your children and give them credit for at least a little intelligence. Don't try to do their thinking for them. Make them use their minds and stand on their own feet. The worst thing you can do for a child is to baby it.
Ninth. Remember that experience

Uncle Ray's Corner

From Paris To Switzerland

Basel, Switzerland: "This morning I boarded a railroad train, and at 14:30 o'clock (a European way of saying 2:30 p. m.) I reached Basel, just across the Swiss border. Riding through France, I thought back over the eight days I had spent in Paris. The French capital city seems a more pleasing place to visit than in the early years after the World War. The people seem less strained and worried, and the taxicab drivers are a little more polite.
In am glad to be in Switzerland again. This little country has healthy, friendly little people. The Swiss keep their homes clean, and are careful about handling food and preparing it for the table.
Basel is built on both sides of the Rhine river, and is in a corner of Switzerland which touches Germany as well as France.
Basel traces its history back to Roman times. During the Middle Ages, there was a wall around the city. This wall has been torn down, but a few of the olden "gates" still stand.
Not far from Basel is the place where 13,000 Swiss soldiers fought against 25,000 French soldiers close to 500 years ago. Almost all the Swiss were killed or wounded, but the French losses were so heavy that the invasion of Switzerland was given up.
Switzerland has seldom taken part in war during recent centuries. This is probably the main reason the people are so fine and strong. Switzerland contains people who speak German, French and Italian, and they live at peace with one another.

In 1923, and again in 1928, I found Paris a very noisy place. Thousands of motorists seemed to believe they could not drive well without honking their horns five or 10 times between the beginning and the end of each block. Now there is not nearly so much honking. In western France, I saw many villages from my train window. In some cases, every house in a village had a red roof.

Boasting Child Should Not Be Scolded Before Others

BY ANGELO PATHI
Junior was telling Cousin Austin, somewhat his senior and very much his superior in sports, how he made mincemeat of the opposing halfback in a game between the school's scratch teams. Junior wasn't good enough to be on the regular team, but he had hopes.
"And did I mess him up. I didn't give him an inch. Shoved him right down back into his own goal posts. Yes sir, I sure made a mess of that baby. He's going yet. Coach said, 'Good work, Mason. I've my eye on you.' Shouldn't be surprised if I got a lookin' next practice."
Father, listening on the side, squirmed in his chair. When he could stand it no longer he broke in. "You certainly are a winner if you can tell it. But when you get out on the lot you can't hold a ball when it's laid in your arms. You can't kick for sour apples. If you see a guard bearing down on you, down you go before he as much as sniffs at you. How in time you hold a place on the scrimmage team is beyond me. They must be mighty shy of players. Why don't you practice instead of palavering about it?"
"I did so, kick. Didn't I kick the ball right down the center last Wednesday afternoon? Didn't I? Lefty pounds more'n I do. Want me to get my ribs broken or something?"
"No. I'm just telling you that you're a long way from being as good as you think you are. Self-praise you know."
Boasting is poor sportsmanship, but you have to expect some of that and make allowances for it among the beginners. They feel inadequate, and they long to shine like the stars. If by stretching their words a bit they can stretch their sports' stature, be gentle with them. Crushing their spirits won't add any strength to their games.
The members of a family are sensitive to each other's successes and failures. It is hard for a father or mother, or sister or brother, to watch one of their own fail. Listening to one of them boasting of his success when his failure is plain, is a blistering experience to the spirit, but it must be endured in silence.
Keep the sharp word for another occasion. Maybe it won't be needed.

Lions at Party at Their Clubhouse

60 Persons Attend Thanksgiving Event at Long Lake

Clintonville — The Lions entertained their ladies and invited couples at a Thanksgiving party Tuesday evening at their clubhouse on Long Lake. A turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served to 60 guests. A talk appropriate for the Thanksgiving season was given by the Rev. E. C. Stubenvoll, a member of the club. Motion pictures were shown by A. H. Otto of Clintonville's Golden Jubilee celebration, which took place last July 3, 4 and 5.

Congregational Missionary society held an international tea Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Max Stieg on N. Main street. About thirty members and visitors were present.

The tables were decorated to represent five different nations, there being an American table, a German, French, Japanese and Mexican. A program was given which included a vocal solo, "Thanks Be to God" by Miss Betty Spiegel, a playlet, "Story Terrace" by members of Girl Scout Troop 3 A, under the leadership of Mrs. Ralph Laney; and a piano solo by Miss Herbertha Kirsling, teacher of the fifth grade at the public school. Several contests were also conducted, the prize being won by Miss Earl Smith. Proceeds earned from the affair will be used in missionary work by the society.

The Pilgrim Youth association will sponsor the showing of motion pictures at 7:30 Saturday evening, Dec. 4, at the Congregational church parlors. The pictures will be in charge of A. H. Otto. A candy sale will be held in connection with the program.

564 Age Pensions Paid in County

Payments at Waupaca During November Total $10,514

Waupaca — Old age assistance was rendered in 564 cases for November, totalling $10,514. Applications for this type of assistance have practically tripled during the last month, according to a statement by Pension Administrator Hugh Johnson, and the reason for the increase may be attributed directly to the general weather conditions, particularly the drought of the last summer.

There were 282 children in 118 families that received aid for the month amounting to $3,508.

Blind pensions of $330 were awarded to 18 persons.

At the recent session of the county board, the pension department was authorized to expend $125,000 for old age assistance 80 per cent of which will be returned by state and federal aid, the remaining 20 per cent or $25,000 to be raised locally. The estimated expenditure for dependent children's aid is $45,000, with $28,000 to be returned and $17,000 put into the tax roll, while for the blind pensions the estimated expenditure is set at $5,500, with $4,400 to be returned by state and federal aid and $1,100 added to the taxes.

Garvey Re-elected Soil Board Head

District Chairmen Plan Conservation Program for 1938

Joseph E. Garvey, route 1, Kaukauna, was re-elected chairman of the board of directors of the Outagamie County Soil Conservation association at a meeting of the district chairmen being held today at the courthouse.

Walter Olsen, route 1, Black Creek, was selected vice president and Herbert Tubbs, route 2, Seymour, treasurer. Thomas Dorsey, route 5, Appleton, also was named to the board. Alternates to the board are John Dolan, route 2, Kaukauna, and Arnold Roessler, route 1, Dale.

Plans for the 1938 program were being discussed at the meeting today.

Case May Revolutionize Methods of Evaluation

Madison—(P)—The public service commission announced today it is participating with other states in a California case before the United States Supreme court which may revolutionize methods of valuing utility properties.

The commission said the case involves the Pacific Gas and Electric company and the question to be decided is whether the "reproduction cost" theory of valuation shall be supplanted by the prudent investment theory.

Chairman Fred S. Hunt of the present commission and the old Wisconsin Railroad commission have been on record for years in favor of the "prudent investment" method.

This system was used in Wisconsin to value utility properties up to 1923 when a United States Supreme court decision held that reproduction cost must be the major consideration.

Uphold Right of Town To Establish Utility

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The state public service commission in an order made public Wednesday dismissed a contention by attorneys of the Northland Bottling company, town of Appleton, that the town of Appleton has no right to establish itself as a municipal water utility and its bond issue to finance it is illegal and denied the bottling company's permit to build the utility.

The bottling company claimed that the commission in its order of convenience and necessity permitting the township to construct a waterworks acted contrary to evidence produced at public hearings. The commission, however, pointed out that attorneys for the private firm did not offer additional testimony, and denied their objections.

Farm Council Picks Dates For Next State Meeting

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Directors of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, holding their first meeting here this week, decided to use more time on the farm organization hour of the state radio stations, according to Milo K. Swanton, executive secretary.

The directors also decided that the 1938 state convention will be held in Milwaukee October 31 and November 1 and 2, Swanton said.

Prominent members of the council, which embraces most of the leading farm organizations in the state, which will speak over the state radio stations beginning on December 9 and at two week intervals following that date, Swanton will speak on the work of the organization on December 9.

Electric Inspector At High School Knows His Work, Boyer Says

Spiking rumors of inefficient electrical supervision at the new senior high school, C. K. Boyer, member of the building committee, told the board of education the Wadsworth Electrical company had supplied a field superintendent who had been in charge of the electrical work for the large federal housing project at Chicago and was "more than qualified" to do the work here at a meeting in Lincoln school last night.

The former supervisor, Walter Schiffelbein, was injured in a recent accident but arrangements have been made so that Schiffelbein can be contacted at anytime and the work is progressing in a satisfactory manner, Mr. Boyer said.

The building committee reported grading at the site was progressing despite freezing weather and the major portion of the building was now protected from water. The board authorized contractors to ship 4,500 cubic yards of dirt from the grounds for topping the lawn area.

A request from Walter G. Dixon, valley council scout executive, for use of school gymnasiums to conduct safety contests was granted and the board decided to reconsider an application from the Town Taxi association for use of a school gymnasium and referred it to a special committee with power to act.

Carlson Lauds Dairy And Recreational Aids

Madison—(P)—Wilbur C. Carlson of the state department of agriculture and markets said in a radio address last night that dairy and recreational advertising sponsored by the legislature has paid Wisconsin big dividends.

He recalled that the 1935 legislature created two funds of $100,000 for two year programs of increasing consumption of dairy products and inducing residents of other states to come to Wisconsin for vacations.

"During the first two years in which the dairy advertising and promotion work was conducted the value of milk produced on Wisconsin farms increased $57,000,000," he said. "This figure is over half the total income for the same milk production during the year 1932."

"Should only 10 per cent of this increase be credited to the state's dairy promotion efforts, the value would be a $5,700,000 return on the investment of $100,000 made during the period."

Carlson said reports from resort owners indicated an average of 33 per cent increase in their business for 1936 compared with 1935. Other recreational income yardsticks, such as gasoline tax and fishing license receipts, also increased in the four summer months of 1936 over 1935, he said.

Warm Sun Melts City's Ice, Snow

Today Most Pleasant of Week; Unsettled Weather Forecast

Cloudy, unsettled weather in Appleton and vicinity tonight and tomorrow is forecast by the weatherman in today's reports. Temperatures tonight will be milder.

A warm sun that took the chill out of the air and started melting snow and ice that has accumulated in the city made today's weather the most pleasant of the week. At 1 o'clock this afternoon the thermometer registered 31 degrees, just within the freezing zone.

The temperature stood at 17 degrees above at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, the lowest in the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant. Warmest mark recorded in that period was 26.

Phoenix, Ariz., with 75 and Park Falls, Wis., with 10 produced the high and low temperatures in the nation yesterday.

Basketball Heads Will Meet at 'Y'

Older Boys, City League Schedules to be Arranged Tonight

Managers of teams in the older boys' league at the Y.M.C.A. will meet with Ray Risch, physical education director, at 7 o'clock tonight to pass on eligibility of players, call in the contracts and draw up the schedule for the month of December.

This month's play will be a pre-season period in preparation for the championship league schedule opening the first of next year. During the month the 12 teams will play on Saturday afternoons and Monday evenings.

The teams will be rated according to strength during the month and for the championship flight will be placed into two divisions, one the six strongest and the other the six weakest.

The top bracket will be known as the National league and the weaker circuit the American league.

Managers of the six teams in the city basketball league will meet at 7:30 tonight to decide questions of eligibility and draw up a schedule. Play in this league will open next Thursday night, Dec. 9.

HEAD FAIRS ASSOCIATION Chicago (P)

Ralph Ammon, Milwaukee, was elected president of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions at the conclusion of a two-day meeting yesterday.

Landrace Hogs May Be 'Ideal Type' for American Breeders

Chicago—(P)—The swine producer's idea of a real money making hog was shown today at the International Livestock exposition.

Two Landrace barrows, a breed which promises to become the "ideal type" for American stockmen, were the center of attraction. They are capable of producing heavier hams, better quality bacon, and 25 per cent more loin—the "money" portion of a hog—than breeds common in the United States.

Shown by the swine research department of the United States Department of Agriculture, the breed was first imported from Denmark in 1934 for experimental purposes.

For three years the department has been checking the purebred Landrace hogs against American breeds. Experts of the department assert that the Landrace variety has given "favorable results in comparison," but they added that as yet no breeding stock is available from the department. The Landrace barrows are white and have longer snouts and smaller heads than the common American breeds.

Production of a hog of this type in this country is of interest to packers and consumers as well as producers, since the department of agriculture credits the Landrace breed with enabling Denmark to set the standard in production of lean bacon.

Power Thieves Ban New Customers in Mexico

Mexico City—(P)—The Mexican Light and Power company, its facilities overtaxed by wire tapping power thieves announced today it would accept no new customers after Jan. 1.

Because of failure of efforts to get effective legislation to end the thefts which have equalled 25 per cent of the annual generation, the company, controlled by Belgian, Canadian and British interests, was said to be little disposed to spend more money to increase its facilities.

The threatened curtailment became an obstacle to Mexico's industrial development and building activity. Hundreds of new apartment and office buildings, factories and private dwellings, now in construction, would be affected. Several months ago the company halted service for electric stoves and other large electrical appliances.

Contract Awarded for Building New Hangar

Carl R. Berg, Manitowoc, was awarded a contract for building a new hangar at the county airport by the airport committee yesterday at the courthouse. Berg's bid, the lowest of three submitted, was $8,640. Others who submitted bids were Hoffman Construction company, Appleton, and Trachte Brothers company Madison.

Red Cross Office Open Friday and Saturday

The Outagamie county chapter office of the American Red Cross will be open Friday and Saturday morning to receive donations to swell the annual roll call total which has reached $2,500. The office was closed today to allow the secretary to check roll call in the county.

Discuss Paving Project At Works Board Meeting

Acceptance of the College avenue paving project from the contractor, Charles A. Green and Sons, was considered at a meeting of the board of public works yesterday in city hall. No action will be taken on the matter until board members see all of the pavement.

PAYS $5 FINE

Joe Paalman, Little Chute, pleaded guilty of failure to stop at an arterial and was fined $5 and costs by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court Tuesday. Paalman was arrested by county police in Little Chute.

92 More Named in Injunction Suit

Ford Company Accuses Group of Interfering With Operations

St. Louis—(P)—The Ford Motor company and the CIO's United Automobile Workers of America prepared today for legal skirmishes as the U. A. W. A. strike called at the St. Louis assembly plant entered its second week.

The company late yesterday amended its original suit asking for an injunction to prevent picketing at its plant, naming 92 additional defendants. The new defendants, together with the 29 named in the first petition, were ordered by Judge Robert J. Kirkwood to show cause in circuit court tomorrow why an order should not be issued.

The suit, filed by Ford attorneys Nov. 24, charges the pickets have attempted to damage the company's business by interfering with operation of the plant through intimidation of employees. Damages also are requested in the suit, the amount to be determined by the court.

Earlier yesterday, the national labor relations board, through Miss Dorothea de Schweinitz, regional director, cited the company to appear at a hearing Dec. 16 to answer allegations of unfair labor practices.

The company was given five days to file its answer to the complaint. Meanwhile, picketing at the plant, which began Nov. 24, continued with men going and returning from work under police surveillance.

Implicates Kenosha Agent in Conspiracy

East St. Louis, Ill.—(P)—United States District Attorney Arthur Roe announced today he would ask a grand jury to consider allegations made before District Judge Fred L. Wham which led to the resignation yesterday of Paul D. Shinholt, federal alcohol tax unit agent at Kenosha, Wis.

Bruce L. Sigler of Chicago, former agent who worked with Shinholt in East St. Louis, was one of six men, including another former agent, who pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy in the operation of a large still in Clinton county, Ill.

Pleading for probation, "for life, if necessary," Sigler told Judge Wham he accepted $100 as payment for failing to report the still and gave half the money to Shinholt.

Shinholt, in court to testify as a government witness if the case went to trial, immediately resigned at the request of Ray Casserly of the Chicago office of the alcohol tax unit.

Sigler was sentenced by Judge Wham to 18 months in the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okla., and was fined $500.

2,000 Christmas Trees Are Destroyed by Fire

Milwaukee—(P)—Two thousand Christmas trees being hauled to Chicago from Cranston, Wis., by truck were destroyed by fire on the southern outskirts of Milwaukee today. The loss was estimated at $500.

The fire started after the driver, Theodore Pitts, 21, of Cranston, lit a match to search for motor trouble. Gasoline dripping from a leaking tank flared up and touched off the rear end of the truck and the trees.

Pitts suffered second degree burns on the hands in attempting to extinguish the blaze.

Births

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Markosky, Jr., 106 E. Division street, Kaukauna, this morning at St. Elizabeth hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Woods, route 1, Appleton, yesterday at St. Elizabeth hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wachendonek, Kimberly, at St. Elizabeth hospital this morning.

Cancel Probations of Two Kimberly Youths

Probations of Joseph Van Hout and Theodore Kokke, Kimberly, have been cancelled and they must serve three years in the state reformatory at Green Bay for operating a car without the owner's consent. Sheriff John Lappen was informed today by the state board of control. The young men are being held at the county jail.

It Is Said--

That Henry J. Van Stratton, Outagamie county superintendent of schools, probably was more surprised at his marksmanship than the 180-pound deer he shot over the weekend up near Mercer. When he saw the animal, it was about a quarter mile off, too far, Van Stratton thought, to hit. However, he aimed his gun and fired merely with the intention of scaring it. He scored a direct hit.

Dettman Awarded Audit Contract

Submits Low Bid of $325 To Check Water Office Books

E. A. Dettman and company, Appleton, was awarded the contract to audit the 1937 books of the water commission at a meeting of members Wednesday at the Water office. The company's bid was $325.

Members of the commission instructed the secretary to advertise for 200 tons of alum and 12,000 pounds of chlorine to be used at the purification plant.

August LeClaire, an employee of the water department, was given $315 by commissioners as a final settlement for an injury last summer. He was working for the department at the time he was hurt.

Plans for an insurance compensation fund were discussed at the meeting. Members decided to consider the matter and bring in a plan for such a fund at the next meeting.

Accused of Taking Auto Without Owner's Consent

Green Bay—(P)—Edward Konsavage, former probation and parole officer for the state board of control, is charged in a warrant issued here with operating a car without the owner's consent, and his arrest is sought.

Konsavage, as a probation officer, had headquarters in Manitowoc. He is alleged to be one of two men who took a Milwaukee car from Becker's tavern near here Saturday night after abandoning their own machine there. They returned the following day and took the car they had first brought. Officers here were told both cars are still missing. Konsavage was named as one of the two men by acquaintances in the tavern, and also through papers found in the first car while it was standing at the tavern.

Falls Cause Injuries To Two Appleton Men

Two persons were injured in falls yesterday. Theodore Aures, 38, bruised his left side when he tripped and fell on S. Mason street about 7:45 last night. Sherman S. Streeter, 68, hurt his right arm and cut his lip in a fall on a porch at the home of a friend about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Applies for License to Open Tavern on Avenue

Albert Giesen, 217 W. Pacific street has applied to the common council for a license to deal in intoxicating liquors at 619 W. College avenue. Action on the license will be taken at the next meeting of the common council. Application for an operator's license by Fred Reitzner also will be considered.

APPLETON AT MADISON

Frank R. Appleton, Outagamie county highway commissioner, is conferring with state highway officials at Madison today.

"MY SKIN WAS A FRIGHT!"

Was in despair until she discovered this famous Medicated Skin Cream

THAT'S the story of scores of otherwise attractive girls—girls who suffered from Pimples and other disfiguring skin troubles from external causes. They found that famous Noxzema Medicated Skin Cream was one product that relieved itching or irritations and promoted quicker healing of ugly skin blemishes.

As one doctor reported, "I used Noxzema for an unusual case of acne vulgaris in a 26-year-old telephone operator. Noxzema made a big improvement in her skin."

Noxzema was first prescribed by doctors for the relief of Burns, Eczema and similar skin troubles. Today over 15,000,000 jars are used yearly. If you suffer from Pimples, from Chafing, Badly Chapped Hands or any similar skin irritation from external causes, try Noxzema Skin Cream.

Appleton Women Reveal Treasured Recipes for Making Yule Delicacies

BY NELL CHAMBERLAIN

Christmas customs in the various countries of the world differ in many respects, but the baking of Christmas cookies is almost a universal event. Favorite recipes for such old standbys as pfeffernus, stollen and nut cookies are handed down from mother to daughter for many generations and treasured along with the family silver by the feminine members of the family.

About this time of year, Appleton women begin to look over their cookery files and set aside their cookie recipes in preparation for a prolonged session of mixing, rolling, cutting, baking and finally decorating the various kinds of sweets which occupy such a prominent place in holiday hospitality. A Christmas box sent to some far-off member of the family would be incomplete without a layer or two of Mother's well-known cookies, and callers arriving about tea time during the Christmas season would be disappointed if there were not a plate of cookies handy.

From Germany where so many of our Christmas customs seem to have originated have come the tasty pfeffernus or "peppernuts," most typical of the Christmas season. Mrs. P. P. Stallman, 518 E. Wisconsin avenue, has a recipe for this sweet which has come down to her through several generations. The recipe she passes on to Appleton housewives as follows: 1 quart dark syrup, 1 pound brown sugar, 1 pound butter, 1 cup shortening, 4 eggs beaten, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 2 teaspoons soda, 2 teaspoons allspice, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon star anise, 2 teaspoons cloves, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 lemons, grated rind and juice, 1 pound shelled almonds, 2 cups citron, 1 pound shelled walnuts, 2 cups hickory nuts, flour enough to make a stiff batter. This should be set in a cool place for several days before baking. Roll out and cut with small cookie cutter.

Christmas Specials

A favorite recipe of Mrs. Henry Rossmessel, 516 W. Eighth street, is the one she calls Christmas Specials. Here it is: 1 cup shortening, 1 1/2 cups white sugar, 3 eggs, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 small teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 teaspoons lemon rind or orange rind, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in 3 teaspoons hot water, 1 1/2 cups nutmeats (hickory nuts preferred), 2 1/2 to 3 cups flour. The method is as follows: Cream shortening, add sugar, add beaten eggs, then the molasses, spices and flavoring. Add the soda dissolved in hot water, then the nut meats, fruit and flour. Drop on buttered tin and bake in a medium oven.

A very new recipe for hazel nut cookies is given by Mrs. Rossmessel who claims that they are especially delicious. It includes 1 cup sugar and 2 eggs, beaten together thoroughly; add 1 1/2 cups hazel nut meats ground as fine as flour, also 5 or 6 graham crackers ground fine. Add 1 teaspoon baking powder. Flour hands and make balls about the size of hickory nuts. Bake in a slow oven.

Sand Tarts

Miss Mabel Burke, director of the homemaking division at Appleton Vocational school, has two excellent recipes for Christmas cookies which she is sure Appleton women will like. The one for Sand Tarts is as follows: 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup butter, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 1/2 cups bread flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt. Cream the butter with the sugar until smooth and light. Stir in egg and vanilla, add flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Chill and roll out on a slightly floured board to a thin sheet. Cut into fancy shapes, brush with slightly beaten egg white and sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar (1 tablespoon sugar to 1 teaspoon cinnamon). Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes.

Holiday wafers which are fine for decorating are made as follows: 1 cup shortening, 2 cups sugar, 4 egg yolks, 1 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon extract or mace, 3 1/2 cups flour. Cream shortening with sugar and unbeaten egg yolks, add milk and fold in sifted dry ingredients, add flavoring. Set in ice box to chill overnight. In the morning roll to one-third inch thickness.

A recipe which is more than 60 years old is the favorite of Miss Laura Fischer, 236 E. Lawrence street, for the cookies do not lose their freshness but will keep for several weeks. The ingredients and method are given here: 1 pound butter, 1 pint goose fat, 1 pound lard, 1 pint syrup, 1 pint dark molasses, 1 pound brown sugar. Bring these ingredients to a boil, remove from fire and when cool add 4 eggs well beaten, 2 heaping teaspoons soda dissolved in hot water, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon cloves, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 1 tablespoon allspice, 1 nutmeg grated, 1 ounce ground anise, 2 ounce ground cardamon. Add as much flour as can be stirred in with a spoon, cover pan and place outdoors to freeze. Bring dough in to thaw a few hours before baking. After thawing it will be necessary to add more flour to roll out. Divide dough into two parts, one part to be rolled very thin and cut with fancy cutters. To the second part add very finely chopped citron, grated lemon and orange peel, and blanched and chopped almonds. Roll out about 1/4 inch thick and place half almonds on top of each cookie. Thus two different kinds of cookies are made from this recipe.

How to Make Stollen

Mrs. William E. Wright, 602 E. Pacific street, offers two of her choicest recipes to Appleton housewives, one for hazel and almond nut bars and the other for Christmas stollen. The nut bars are made as follows: 4 egg whites, 1 pound powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon cake flour, 1 pound grated almonds (pecans may be substituted), 1 pound grated hazelnuts. Beat egg whites slightly, add sugar and beat until white and creamy. Mix remaining ingredients and cut and fold into egg whites. Turn onto a board dredged with 1/2 cup flour and 1/2 cup powdered sugar which have been mixed, and pat and roll 1/4 inch thick. Cut in strips with a floured knife, slip the bars onto a greased and floured baking sheet. Bake 20 minutes in a slow oven (300 degrees).

Just to read the recipe for the stollen makes one's mouth water. To make it, you must set the sponge late at night. This consists of 1 quart scalded milk and cooled, 3 yeast cakes dissolved, and flour enough to make a sponge. In the morning add 3 cups sugar, 2 cups butter and lard mixed and melted, 6 well beaten eggs, salt, grated rind and juice of two lemons, 1 cup chopped almonds, 2 cups raisins, 1 cup citron, 1 cup lemon peel, 1 cup orange peel, 1/2 teaspoon almond flavoring. Mix to a stiff dough and knead for 15 minutes, and let rise again. Shape in loaves and place in bread pans and let rise about an hour. Bake in oven 400 degrees for one hour. Frost with powdered sugar icing while warm and decorate with candied cherries and almonds, or sprinkle with split almonds and brush with sweetened milk. This recipe makes several loaves.

Dim Lights for Safety

Thirteen of the thirty-seven accidents reported occurred during the last week of the month just ended. The icy condition of streets due to a freezing rain and snow probably accounts for the increase, the report states.

Twenty-three of the accidents last month were on arterial highways.

11 Persons Hurt in 37 Auto Accidents in City Last Month

Thirty-seven accidents were reported during November in Appleton, more than three times the number for the same month of last year, a report of Lieutenant H. W. Kapp of the city police department shows. Eleven persons were injured, three of them pedestrians. In November 1936 there were 11 accidents reported with four persons, three pedestrians, injured.

Pupils Begin Building Toy Shop at Jefferson

Preparing for the Christmas season, youngsters of the second grade at Jefferson school are building a toy shop as their current project. The pupils have dismantled a miniature circus which was complete with concessions. Animals were made and painted by the youngsters. Miss Anita Huebner is the teacher.

"No Other Shaver Compares with SCHICK"

Dry Shaver

Read this testimonial letter

DeLuxe Model $16.50

Monasha Wis.

Schlafers, Appleton, Wis.

Because of the splendid service which I have received from my Schick Electric Shaver during the five years which I have used one, I feel that it is only fair that you should know how pleased I am with it.

In my experience of shaving with various razors prior to owning the Schick, I can truthfully say that no other one compares with the Schick Electric dry shaver for convenience and all around use. I always get a close smooth shave and shaving is even quicker now that I do not have to use any lather and hot towels prior to shaving.

If you wish, you may use my name as a recommendation to any one who is interested in one of these new shavers. Incidentally, I am now using one of the newer models after selling my old one and find that the new one is greatly improved over previous models.

Yours truly,
JOE CONWAY

Little Nine Cagers Will Have a Wide Open Race

Hortonville at Wrightstown.BY GORDON MCINTYRE

BASKETBALL teams in the Little Nine conference will open the season Friday evening with games at Kimberly, Denmark, Brillion, Bear Creek, Winneconne and Wrightstown, and with the knowledge that the race appears to be wide open.

Last season Seymour copped in the western division and Denmark in the eastern with Seymour taking the conference title. But this year Seymour appears to have just another team and is also in the eastern division, which shapes up a little stronger than the western circuit. Seymour replaces Wrightstown which moved into the western division.

A long guess as to the season's outlook would put Denmark and Kimberly in the fore in the eastern division with Winneconne a likely looking entry in the western circuit.

Considerably better basketball will be played in the league this season because Wrightstown, Kimberly, Bear Creek and Shiocton have new gymnasiums and some of the other teams have improved facilities.

The various squads shape up something like this:

Kimberly

Coach Ray Hamann, starting his second season at Kimberly, has definite designs on honors this winter. He has six lettermen and while they aren't any too tall they handle the ball well and should click if they can get a few more buckets. The Papermakers have played two games this season, both with St. John's of Little Chute, and split. They won on the home floor by 12 to 9 and lost at Little Chute by a point, 15 to 14.

The lettermen are: Edward Krueger, forward, Ben Weyenberg, forward, Junior Behrendt, guard, Paul Van Dyke, center, Jim Van Boogaard, guard, and Robert La Berge, guard. Others who have been showing well are Cliff Parent, guard, and Jim Fleweger, working at center.

Denies Panthers
Demanded Pocket
Money, Vacation

Pittsburgh—(AP)—Johnny Michelosen, captain of the top-ranking Pitt Panthers, denied today that the squad had made "any demands of any kind" in deciding against accepting a possible Rose Bowl bid.

Rebutting reports that the players had requested pocket money and an immediate two weeks vacation, Michelosen said in explaining the squad's vote against all post-season games:

"The players felt that for many reasons, all of them personal, they would be better off and happier through the holiday season if football ended with the Duke game last Saturday.

"We feel proud of our record this year and are perfectly content to stand on it, claiming no championships and at the same time entertaining no desire to add to what we have done."

By their vote, Michelosen said, the Panthers did not intend "to embarrass" the University of Pittsburgh, the University of California, the University of Oregon or any other Bowl officials.

Valley Bowling Tournament to Open at Fond du Lac, Jan. 15

FOND DU LAC—Hundreds of bowlers of 24 counties in this section are counting the days before Jan. 15—the opening date of the third annual Fox River Valley Bowling association championship tournament to be held at Alhambra Recreation hall.

The annual event has the sanction of the American Bowling association. Entries for the tournament will open on a Saturday.

A special prize will be awarded winners of the first five men event. It was also announced that the tournament will have regular team and booster team divisions and that officials will restrict booster division to teams averaging 850 or less.

A regular 2-man and a number of individual events will also be held. Five booster prizes on each squad of ten teams will be awarded.

IT'S DYKES AND HIS SHADOW

Since Jimmy Dykes, Chicago White Sox manager, peddled Al Simmons to Manager Mickey Cochrane (left) of Detroit for $75,000 and Simmons failed to deliver, Cochrane has been trailing Dykes, trying to reverse the David Harum act. The two old Philadelphia athletic teammates are shown here at the minor league meeting in Milwaukee.

Frank Fries smashed a 620 series and Ted Jansen shot a 246 game to lead leggers in the Eagles Bowling league this week at the Eagles alleys. Adler Braus rolled a 973 game and 2,775 series for high team scores.

O. K. Taxis took two games from the Old Towns and stayed in first place. W. Fries cracked a 231 game and 594 series to head the winners while P. Schafer rolled a 216 game. W. Koester hit a 215 game and O. Kunitz whacked a 205 game for the same team. H. Pommering hit a 526 series and paced the Old Towns and H. Wegner rolled a 203 game for the losers.

Three games were won by the Adler Braus over the Aschauer Tavern. Fries' 620 total was tops for the Braus while F. Yelg shot a 205 game for the team. M. Aschauer rolled a 592 total to head the Taverns.

L. Kugler rolled a 203 game and 559 series to lead Heinie's Taverns to a 2-game win over the Miller High Life team. B. Smith had a 560 series to lead the High Life squad and E. Koerner cracked a 214 game for the same team.

Mellow Brews won two games from the Lutz Ice company team. L. Henstedt whacked a 227 game and 604 series to lead the Brews and Jansen's 246 was high individual score for the team. H. Strutz rolled a 532 series for the Lutz Ice company.

St. Mary's to Battle Menasha in First Tilt

St. Mary's of Appleton will play its Catholic Boys conference game against St. Mary's at Menasha at 4:15 Friday afternoon, according to Gene Kloes, sports director. Coaches John Van Ryzin and Karl Kobal have nominated the following for the probable starting lineup:

Jim McClone and Roger Niles, forwards; James Felt and Robert Balliet, guards; Hubert du Chateau, center. Others expected to see action are Arvin Ristoe, Bob Connelly, George Barry, Ralph McClone, Barney Mannigan, McHugh, and McCarr. About 100 students are expected to accompany the team on its first trip of the year.

High School Boys Register for Meet

Plan Shuffle-Board Tournament on Intramural Program

Boys participating in the intramural program at Appleton High school are registering for a shuffle-board tournament which is scheduled to begin next week. About 38 boys have already signed to compete.

The game is being taught in physical education classes this week by Coach Joseph Shields and William Blum. It is played with a long pole and a wooden puck and is similar to horse shoe. The games differ in that the puck is pushed into the scoring area instead of thrown.

Boys who have registered for both singles and doubles are Carl Leisner, Larry Shebiske, Kenneth Winkler, Luther Huebner, Charles Pruett, Edward Arndt, Robert Fischer, C. Ulmen, Warren C. Judoir, Owen Lawson, Ralph Gertsch, Milton Berger, John Black, Dale Berger, Robert Steudel, K. Powers, Ben Elacher, John Smith, Junior Ecker, Vernon Dewey, Charles Last, William Wolfe, William Zapp, Bruce Cameron, Arthur Roehl, Clarence Zelle, Donald Wulzart, Darwood Matteson, Ervin Lietz, Robert Block, F. Fordham to Snub Future Bids to Rose Bowl Game

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—It was a disappointed crowd up at Fordham when they heard the Rose Bowl decision, but one and all took it like real sports. Gene Tunney will be the principal speaker when LaFayette dines its undefeated football team Dec. 13. For some plain and fancy ceiling-hitting you should have seen and heard Frankie Frisch, the old "Fordham Flash," when he heard the Rose Bowl news at Milwaukee. They say Dr. Branch Rickey left the room muttering "My, my," which is as far as Dr. Rickey goes on any occasion. Tony Canzoneri is getting so fat he has started reducing in a gymnasium owned by a reformed wrestler.

The Yankees have such a big delegation at the Milwaukee baseball meeting they are running their own bar. Every farmhand executive in the chain is in the group of 26. Going home from the Southern California-Notre Dame game, Marvin McCarthy, sports editor of the Chicago Times, picked up a hitch hiker. Marvin started extolling Chuck Sweeney, star Irish end. "Ho, hum," yawned the guest rider. "Wasn't I lousy today?" Yep, it was Sweeney. They took us down south Alabama wouldn't go to the Rose Bowl even if it got a bid, because the astute Frank Thomas thinks this year's team is not as good as those of former years.

New York papers say if Fordham ever gets a Rose Bowl bid in the future they'll snub it. Before disbanding for the season, the Army players presented Coach Davidson with the ball used in the Navy game. Usually this is a treasured possession of the winning team's captain. Davidson was so stunned he couldn't open his trap.

Brewers at Milwaukee are offering the baseball moguls and scribes all the lager they can pack in, and the result may be a deal that will make the good old town more famous than (deleted by adv. dept.) did. Michigan State's "B" team, which won all its games last season, refused to sit at the same table with the varsity at the annual banquet.

Canadeo to Meet Chicago Fighter In Oshkosh Show

OSHKOSH FIGHT CARD
Windup Bouts
Savior Canadeo, St. Norbert's, vs. Clifton Foy, Chicago.
Al Scarlotta, St. Norbert's vs. Tommy Dunkin, Chicago.

Prelims
Cornelius Young, St. Norbert's, vs. Clarence Lane, Chicago.
Al Ulrich, St. Norbert's, vs. Ed. Dykes, Chicago.
Hans Ahl, Oshkosh, vs. Eddie Conroy, Chicago.
Ed Walus, Green Bay, vs. Al Robbins, Oshkosh.
Clem Walus, Green Bay, vs. John Perrier, Oshkosh.

OSHKOSH—Twenty-five rounds of amateur boxing with 14 of the best fighters in this section of the country meeting in seven bouts is the card to be presented tonight at the Eagles clubhouse in Oshkosh by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The program will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Four men from St. Norbert's at De Pere and a team of five outstanding amateur fighters from Chicago will headline the all-star card. At least five of the bouts could be windup affairs. Matchmaker "Zip" Schuster has stated.

Fans are evidently aware of that and orders for tickets have been received from a number of places surrounding Oshkosh. Accommodations are to be provided for a large number of fans so that everyone attending will be assured of being admitted.

Had Matchmaker Schuster and the V.F.W. only booked Savior Canadeo and some worthy opponent and filled the card with other less prominent fighters, it would still have been a good program. Canadeo is the favorite of many, having beaten some of the best of them without getting his hair mussed. But in Clifton Foy of Chicago, he may have to toss plenty of leather to come out on top of the heap.

In the other half of the twin windup bill, another St. Norbert's fighter, Al Scarlotta, will face Tommy Dunkin, Chicago, who has a long record of victories tucked in his belt.

Have Strong Foes
The other St. Norbert's boys, Cornelius Young and Al Ulrich, will have strong foes in Clarence Lane and Ed Dykes, both of Chicago. Lane is appearing on the card in place of Martin O'Grady, originally booked, but who since injured a hand and is unable to show here.

Local fans with watch with interest the bout between Hans Ahl, Oshkosh, and therefore a favorite, and Eddie Conroy, Chicago, which is a rematch following a fight at Appleton, in which the Chicago slugger came out the winner. Ahl has been training hard since then to turn the tables.

Two other Oshkosh boys will fight preliminary engagements. Al Robbins meeting Ed Walus, Green Bay, and John Perrier mixing with Clem Walus, also of Green Bay. The Chicago fighters are from the "table" of "Jabber" Young, a former Menasha boy who made a name for himself in the fight game and now manages some of the best Chicago boxers.

Branch Rickey Indicates Cards Won't Sell Ducky

And They'll Also Hang Onto Dizzy Dean and Pepper Martin*BY EARL HILLIGAN

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—If there's any price tag hanging on Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals it will read $1,000,000 plus.

That's how high Branch Rickey, Cardinal chief, values the heavy-hitting outfield star, and to play low the stubborn rumor that Medwick will be sold during the current baseball meetings, Rickey today explained that "only if we were liquidating the entire organization would Medwick be disposed of."

Between dashes to telephones and hurried looks at blackboards containing player rosters of the Cardinal farm chain, Rickey paused long enough in his hotel suite to talk about his two best known pieces of diamond "ivory"—Medwick and the "forgotten man"—Dizzy Dean.

"Medwick is not for sale and will not be traded," Rickey said. "If some one walked in that door and offered me $500,000 for him I'd say 'No,' they could make the price go beyond a million dollars and my answer still would be 'no.' Offers have been made for him, but they were made rather facetiously and those making the offers knew they were just talking."

Will Keep Diz
"What's the sense, anyway, in selling a great ball player like Medwick, say for $500,000, and then have to give the government half? You'd just have $250,000 left to start trying to replace Medwick—and it couldn't be done."

"What's going to become of 'good ol' Diz'?" Well, for one thing, Rickey is going to keep the eccentric hurler who was the biggest topic of conversation at the 1936 meetings and who apparently is forgotten this year.

"We still hope to get good pitching from Dizzy," Rickey continued. "We do not plan to sell or trade him. You know (with a grin) Dizzy is a great fellow. We never have any trouble with him; he's never reported late; he's always had his contract in on time. Of course, there may have been a few stories given out here and there, but they sort of entered into the spirit of the thing."

Rickey hopes to have a fair team in 1938, with help coming from the Cardinal farms. Several older stars will be retained, including John "Pepper" Martin, colorful all-around hand's man, Martin, so far as Rickey is concerned, can remain with the club for life.

Olympic Diving Queen Fighting Pneumonia

Los Angeles—(AP)—Georgia Coleman, queen of Olympic divers in 1928 and 1932, mustered a smile today and said:
"I'll be out there diving again soon—this can't hurt me."

She posed her eyes heavy-lidded, for news photographers, then lapsed into a semi-coma.
For days, she has been critically ill.

This week she was cheered when doctors decided she had not contracted infantile paralysis but was suffering from pneumonia.

Bluejays Will Meet Truckers

AAU Won't Hold Cage
Meets in Wisconsin*MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Peter Murphy, chairman of the registration committee of the Wisconsin AAU, announced today no basketball players would be registered this season.

The ruling means no district or state basketball meets will be conducted by the AAU this year as in the previous two seasons, and no Wisconsin team will be sent to the national tournament at Denver next March.

Murphy said difficulties over the amateur standing of several teams in the Milwaukee area caused the decision to not register teams this year.

Golden Bear Coach Scoffs at 2-1 Odds To Defeat Alabama

Allison Says Invaders are
'Toughest Team in Country'

BERKELEY, CALIF.—(AP)—California installed California 2 to 1 favorite today to defeat Alabama in the Rose Bowl.

But Coach Leonard "Bud" Allison and his Golden Bear football players scoffed at such odds for the New Year's day battle.

Alabama is the toughest team in the country," retorted the head coach. "It will need hard work after our boys have their final examinations to meet such a great outfit. That's going to be one tough game."

"If we are lucky enough to beat them we really will have accomplished something," chimed in Perry Schwartz, Pacific Coast conference all-star end.

Praise Invaders
From Los Angeles came further praise of the Crimson Tide.

"The Alabama boys know what they want to do, and when they want to go places, they dig in and go," said Assistant Coach Jeff Cravath of University of Southern California. He has scouted Bama's last two games in preparation for a 1938 Tide-Trojan clash.

The battle of the undefeated Crimson Tide and California's unbeaten, once-tied Bears is expected to pack Pasadena's stadium, with 89,000 customers who will pay $311,000 for 60 minutes of grid thrills. Tickets are $3.30 to $3.50.

Alabama and California will receive approximately $90,000 each. The schools pay their own traveling expenses. Figuring the Tide's outlay at $20,000, the Southern should profit about $70,000.

BROOKLYN SELLS PITCHER

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Brooklyn today sold Pitcher Ben Cantwell to Montreal of the International league. Cantwell, a national league veteran, was purchased by the Giants last summer from the Boston Bees and later turned over to Jersey City and thence to Brooklyn.

Jimmy Richardson, Fond du Lac, decided Don Loonsfoot, Green Bay, in another lopsided windup bout. Richardson introduced the Indian boy to the canvas in a polished manner several times and only the bell interrupted what would have been a knockout count in the final round.

Two Clubs Bid For Van Mungo

Manager Burleigh Grimes Holding Out For Higher Stakes

BY PAUL NICKELSON
MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Van Mungo, the pitching truant who caused Burleigh Grimes' last season in flatbush, was the big headache man of the major-league team today.

Every National League club, notably the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs, wanted to get the temperamental chucker from Dixie but Manager Grimes, getting his first chance to do the talking in a deal, held out for very high stakes. As a result, the entire player market was clogged and almost listless except for some American and minor league action.

Colonel William Harold Terry was reported to have offered pitcher Hal Schumacher, catcher Gus Mancuso, outfielder Hank Leibert, first baseman John McCarthy and a good chunk of owner Horace Stoneham's dough for Mungo and first baseman Buddy Hassett.

The Cubs' best offer, according to grapevine information, was first baseman Rip Collins, outfielder Turk Steinbach, pitcher Clay Bryant and cash for Mungo. Grimes wanted Frank Demaree from the Cubs or catcher Harry Danning from the Giants to boot and it was no go.

After several thousand huddles around the stone pillars of the Hotel Schroeder lobby, only one strictly major league swap was made. That was a swap of pitcher Ed Linke by Washington to the St. Louis Browns for Elton Hoggsett, veteran southpaw. And nobody except Hoggsett and Linke got very excited about that piece of business. Linke won 6 and lost 1 for the Senators last season, serving mostly as relief; Hoggsett won 6 and lost 19.

Most of the American league clubs, meanwhile, were trying to land established stars for benchwarming rookies and getting no place fast, though many bonafide offers for swaps were made.

College Players
Many observers detected a better fight in progress between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees over farm business. One report was the Cardinals charged the Yankees with bringing up a new crisis in the college player question by spending $75,000 in bonuses to entice signing during the last five years. A proposal is up before the major and minor leagues to prohibit the signing of college players until their class is graduated unless their college president okay it.

German Cyclers Regain Lead in New York Race

New York—(AP)—Kilian and Vopel, the German stars, regained the lead again in the 63rd international six-day bike race at Madison Square Garden, as the boys whirled well past the half-way mark.

They had one lap advantage over the teams of Ignat-Diot, and W. Peden-D. Peden. Two laps behind were the teams of O'Brien and Allen, Walthour and Crossley and Letourner and Debaets. The balance of the field was well scattered as far back as 12-laps behind the leaders.

Seven Teams Entered In Badger State Loop

Seven teams were represented at a meeting of the Badger State Football league officials at Green Bay last night. The group decided to limit the league to seven or nine teams and decided on a franchise fee of $25.

The deadline for securing franchises was set for July 1. Teams definitely entered in the loop are Little Chute, Appleton, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Two Rivers and Kaukauna. Other teams have expressed interest in the loop and may enter at a meeting to be held in Two Rivers March 1.

Kimberly to Meet St. Mary's Squad

Initial Tilt in Catholic Boys Conference Tomorrow

Kimberly—The Holy Name grade school team will play its opening game in the Catholic Boys conference league with St. Mary's, Kaukauna, at the clubhouse at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. There are 11 teams in the league participating in the 20-game schedule.

The Kimberly boys are out four afternoons a week for two hours practicing passing, dribbling and shooting baskets. Out of 20 candidates who reported for tryouts Coach Matt Dupont has named 10 who he will use for his first string squad.

They are: Jack Fieweger, Robert Willis, Anton Van Himbergen, Clayton Larson, Kenneth Dietzen, Alphonse Kneepkins, Frank Van Cuyk, Lyle Kruger, Theodore Thelosen and Norbert Vanden Heuvel. Rev. C. B. Vanden Borne is spiritual director.

Big Ten Coaches Will Address Grad Banquets

Chicago—(AP)—Chicago will get a big play from the eating and talking division of the Big Ten this week.

Tonight, around 1,000 Illinois alumni and fans will attend Coach Bob Zuppke's silver jubilee dinner. Coach Bernie Bierman will speak to Minnesota alumni and Bo McMillin of Indiana, will meet Hoosier grads tomorrow night.

Northwestern will hold its annual football banquet Saturday night, and Harry Stuhldreher will address the Wisconsin club of Chicago.

to the long train ride the Dukes started this morning. The team which last year beat Pitt and this year gave the Panthers their toughest battle outside of Fordham has already travelled thousands of miles and has yet to win a game away from home.

Novakofski and Grode Placed on Honor Grid Team

Two Lawrence Gridders Win Berths on All Conference Squad

ALBERT Novakofski and Carlton Grode, Menasha gridders at Lawrence college, were chosen for the Midwest all-conference team in a poll of the league's eight coaches. Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Iowa, conference champions, placed four men on the mythical honor squad.

Ripon, Lawrence and Knox each placed two men on the first squad. Carlton placed one man.

First and second team selections:

First Team	Second Team
Evans, Ripon	Jackson, Carleton

Irvin Hornke smashed the highest game of the evening, a 249, to lead Gonzaga to a 2-game win over Montana in the Elks Western League last night. Hornke had another game of 217 and a 609 series. Wenzel hit 211 and Demand 200. Goldberg rolled a 513 series to lead the Montana team. The first game of the match ended in a tie, with both outfits scoring 838.

Carl McKee cracked games of 214 and 215 and followed with the best series, 621, as Utah took two from Santa Clara. For the winners, Kahn shot 204, J. Engel 200 and 213 and W. McKee 221. Games of 214 and 209 and a 587 series by E. Lindberg, a 205 by M. Herner and a 206 by Dan Steinberg, Sr., were standouts in the Santa Clara attack. Utah had high team game of 1032 and high match score of 2840.

Derber shot a 243 game and Dan Steinberg, Jr., games of 207 and 204 and a 578 series, as Idaho outbowed Oregon two out of three games. Long spilled a 209 game and 579 series, Gleisner a 202, and Bock a 208 for Oregon.

Rothchild hit 225 and 214, winding up with a 603 series. Kranhold shot 223, and Henderson 203 as St. Mary's took three from Washington. Thomson had two games of 200 and a 595 series and Kotter a 239 for the Huskies.

Rowdy Pocan Gets Boos, Punishment at Menasha

BY RANDY HAAASE
MENASHA—It was Rowdy Pocan's turn to draw down the wrath of the crowd last night as he received vociferous boos as he used unpleasant tactics to defeat Tarzan Krause, Milwaukee deaf-mute wrestler, in the wind-up of the card sponsored by the Twin City Union club at the S. A. Cook armory last night.

Rowdy started the roughness and continued to irritate the crowd by biting, twisting fingers, kneeling, pulling hair, gouging, choking and kicking, particularly after Krause was lying on the floor and the referee had ordered a break.

However, when it was Tarzan's turn to hand out punishment, the crowd was gleeful. When Pocan used rough means, the crowd protested violently to the referee. When Tarzan used exactly the same methods, only encouragement was offered.

der, starting his sixth season, holds out hopes for a good year. In four games to date the team has won three and controlled the ball most of the time but failed to hit the hoop as often as the coach would like.

Schroeder has a veteran aggregation with Elmer Krueger, center, Louis Horst, Harold Ecker and Sylvester Thiel, guards, William Kupsh, Roger Dingeldine and Alex Verriess, forwards.

He also is working up a strong second squad and has 11 good boys on it. The best five are Marvin Pope, Remy Picard, Carlton Ludiving, Marvin Kitzinger and Junior Dingeldine. All members of the second squad are freshmen and sophomores.

Denmark
Denmark High school, winner of the eastern division title last season, will have a small, fast squad lacking in experience but which has scored two wins over Mishicot, two over Valdres, one over De Pere and which dropped a nod to Pulaski.

The Danes will have two lettermen, Melvin Schels, forward, playing in his second year and Dallas Dimmer, forward, on his third season. The centers are Norbert Rasmussen from last year's reserves, and Walter Kemper, playing his first season. James Christensen is a forward and Hugo Mathis, Robert Kriwanek and Eugene Lodl are guards who will be playing their first season.

The Denmark coach is Harold Rasmussen, starting his seventh season.

Reedsville
At Reedsville, Coach Earl Witte, dean of conference mentors because he is starting his tenth season, will have one of the smallest squads from point of height in the history of the school.

Three of the boys won letters last season: Virgil Jackels, guard and captain of the team, Howard Birkholz, a forward who was a guard last year, and Leonard Cummings, playing center this year and a forward a year ago.

Two other forward prospects are Carvel Ebert and Arnold Kappel, juniors, while the guards are Elmer Klein, Howard Neil and Roger Rusch. George Delancy is a tall candidate for center and Bernard Kabat is a guard prospect.

The team won from Kiel, 20 to 17, lost to Kiel, 20 to 16, and was defeated by Manitowoc, 26 to 12.

Seymour
Coach Paul Loftus, whose team last year won the western division title for Seymour High school, and then copped the conference title, is reaping the rewards of championship status—this year's team isn't so hot. And with the team slumped into the eastern division this season, where competition is a trifle keener, the prospects are really bad.

Seymour has played four games so far and lost them all, most of them by "box car numbers," according to Loftus. A change in style and shooting has been one handicap, although Loftus admits the boys really are interesting the coach. He has spent so much time teaching them.

One bright spot in the outlook occurred this week when Johnny Foate, guard and center, joined the squad. Foate and Bauman, forward, now are the only lettermen.

Others who are expected to see action are Larry Amunson and Howard Steward, forwards, Keith Van Varen, center, LeRoy Pasch, center, Berni Huet, Roy L. Marek, Malcolm Veltch, Bob Masch and Leonard Wagester, guards.

Brillion
Brillion High school opens its season with a squad built around two lettermen and a group of youngsters who are expected to do well as the season rolls along. The veterans are Harold Enneper, guard, and Frank Ecker, forward.

Among the new boys are Harold Jankin, a sophomore forward, Roy Ruesch, a sophomore center, Howard Schoenecker, a junior forward, and Alfred Miller, a junior center.

So far this season Coach Earl Tetzlaff's team has played five games and dropped four. Three of the defeats were by 2-point margins. Chilton downed the team 25 to 18 while Wrightstown was defeated. Tetzlaff is starting his fifth season at Brillion.

Shiocton
Coach Leonard Larsen is starting his seventh season at Shiocton with two letter winners and only fair prospects. Leo Shepherd, guard, and Robert Witthuhn, center, are the only regulars from last year who are returning. The team has played two practice games with Hilbert and dropped both.

Other candidates who have drawn the coach's attention are Gordon Menty, forward, Merlyn Schwandt, forward, Leo Collar, guard, David Brooker, forward, Charles Wardell, forward, Elroy McNiesch, forward, and Milton Main, guard.

Bear Creek
Because it has just moved into its new gymnasium, Bear Creek High school is about a month behind other schools in work, according to Coach Stanley Helm, starting his first season. He also is the principal of the school.

Two lettermen form the nucleus of the squad. They are Jerry Flanagan, guard, and Roger Egan, forward. Ed Flanagan, a veteran guard, isn't out for caging because of a grid injury while Len Moriarity, who would be a great help at center, hasn't reported.

Among the new boys showing well are Ralph Hurley, forward, Nathan Wied, guard, and Ken Klemm, forward. Wednesday night the Creelers played Manawa.

Arnold Kelly, bowling for the Tuttle Press, whacked a 611 series on games of 205, 194 and 212 to head bowlers in the Industrial Bowling league last night at the Arcade alleys. High individual game score was rolled by Chet Merkle. Tuttle Press smashed a 2-316 series for high team total and the Tuttle Cubs had high team game of 1,055.

The Tuttle Press team retained a one-game edge for first place by defeating the Wire Works in three straight games. Greens rolled a 209 game and Lesselyoung smashed a 203 game for the winners. Frosty Johnson cracked a 550 series and paced the Wire Workers.

Charles Pond hit a 557 series and led the Pond Sports to a 3-game win over the Fox River squad to stay in the race, only one game behind the leaders. Everett Wegner rolled a 211 game and 581 series for top score for the Fox Rivers.

Woolen Mills won two games from the Wadhams team. Ray Crane shot a 213 game and 572 series to head the winners while P. Koll scattered 201 pins for the same team. Fred Yelg shot a 514 total for the winners.

Two games were won by the Atlas Embossers over the Power Company quintet. O. Kranzusch pounded a 227 game and 569 total and was high in the Atlas team while Mike Sakellaris rolled a 211 game and 559 total to pace the Power company. Ritten hit a 232 game and Nabbeled shot a 206 game for the winners.

Atlas Printers cracked a 2-game victory over Montgomery-Wards five. Wally Klein hit a 214 game and 575 series and led the Printers while Art Stremmel knocked down 577 pins for the losers. Zapp shot a 205 game for the Printers.

Willard Schmidt led the Appleton Machines to a 2-game win over the Schlafer Hardware with a 233 game and 564 series. Wally Wunderlich shot a 209 game and 487 total to lead the Hardware. Rowan cracked a 212 game for the winners.

Coated Paper won two games from the Tuttle Cubs. Carlton Heinritz smashed a 209 game and 576 total and paced the Papers while Chet Merkle rolled a 253 game and 558 series to head the Cubs.

Three games were won by the Post-Crescents over the Telephone company team. Eddie Starnard was high for the Crescents with a 204 game and 593 series while Roy McCallum cracked a 226 game and 553 series for the Telephones. Loppnow rolled a 228 game for the losers.

team will undoubtedly develop as the season progresses.

Likely starters against Clintonville are Henry Landskron and Earl Block at forwards, Harry Zelinske at center, Mervin Schneider and Capt. Clifford Heiss at guards. Numerous substitutes will all see action and some of the first tossed into the game by Coach Calder will be William Resch, Kenneth Ducharme and Leo Osiewalski.

NEW LONDON AT SHAWANO
New London—Getting the same sour dish as in football, New London High school eagles will open the Northwestern Wisconsin conference against probably the strongest team in the loop when they travel to Shawano tomorrow night.

New London defeated Waupaca five and gave up fighting at Wausau but the real test of the team will be tomorrow night's game. Shawano already has gone through three tilts undefeated, against Clintonville in a conference tussle, and East Green Bay and Seymour in non-conference play. Six lettermen have returned to the Indians.

Coach D. N. Stacy has been drilling on fundamentals, plays and signals during practices and scrimmage the past week. Lineups have remained about the same although Stewart Hammerberg saw increasing action at guard the past week as a promising alternate with Leo Smith.

Council Buys New Stoker for Street Department Barns

Coal Feeder to Cost $859; Spend $202 for New Tar Kettle

The council last night awarded the contract to furnish a coal stoker for the street department building to Boeck Equipment company, Milwaukee on its bid of $859. Milwaukee Midwest Equipment company's bid of $202 for a new tar kettle also was accepted.

Purchase of the new stoker, Alderman Brautigam said, will save coal and, because cheaper coal may be used, will save about 10 per cent on the cost of coal. Alderman Vanderheyden objected to spending the money at this time and recommended that buying of the stoker be postponed until next winter, because "we are short of money this year and I haven't heard any convincing argument for a stoker."

Question Junk Licenses

Licenses of four junk dealers again were referred back to the police and license committee because applications called for business operation in residential sections. The dealers are Jacob Golper, S. Simonofski, L. Simon and Sam Shilerat.

Alderman Thompson said the dealers were carrying on part of their business in the residential district, which is against the ordinance. Alderman Kubitz, a member of the committee, said the council could not deprive men of a way to make a living and recommended the council grant the licenses with the stipulation they be given 30 days to move their businesses into the heavy manufacturing district.

Alderman Brautigam said the dealers had been given plenty of warning and the licenses should not be granted unless the dealers obeyed the ordinance.

Approve Assessments

Paving assessments for the Ravinia place project were unanimously approved after methods of assessment were explained to property owners who attended the meeting. The mayor explained that some lots were assessed more than the front footage rate because the lots were wider at the rear than in front while others were wider in front than at the rear.

In a letter to the council, Carroll and Carroll, real estate dealers, offered the Kircheneire property on W. Washington street for sale at $8,000. The property includes two lots, two houses and a 6-car garage and about 1/2 acre of fairgrounds. The offer was referred to the committee on public grounds and buildings.

Plans and specifications for a sanitary sewer on Roosevelt street from Clark to N. Division street were approved by aldermen.

Operator's licenses were granted to Joseph Kiener, 347 W. Foster street, Frank Belling, 120 S. Summit street, Clifford Smith, 1217 S. Jefferson street, and Eric Hanson, 318 E. Main street.

A resolution to install a street light on W. Franklin street midway between W. Outagamie street and Linwood avenue was referred to the street lighting committee.

A resolution to borrow $15,000 for operating expenses until the Wisconsin Michigan Power company tax check is received from the state was advised and the council approved bills amounting to $27,194.34.

Plans Hunt for Treasure After Making Record Dive

Milwaukee (4)—Max E. "Gene" Nohl, intrepid 27-year-old amateur diver who yesterday descended to an unofficial world's record depth of 420 feet in Lake Michigan made plans today for a 1938 sunken treasure hunt.

"Everything went off smoothly. I didn't find much difference between this and other dives, but it was a strain just the same and I feel pretty tired," said Nohl describing the test of his experimental diving suit in the icy lake waters 12 miles off Port Washington.

When he reached the floor of Lake Michigan Nohl had exceeded by 114 feet the United States navy diving record of 306 feet set in 1915 by Frank Crilly when he descended to the sunken submarine, S-4, on the bottom of Pearl Harbor, Honolulu.

Using a helium-oxygen breathing mixture which he claims eliminated nitrogen from the blood and prevents the agony of "bends," the young diver entered the water at 12:51 p. m. and emerged again at 3:40, less than three hours later, chilled, but otherwise unaffected.

Plans More Tests

Nohl says he cooperated with Dr. Edgar End, young Marquette university physiologist, in perfecting the helium-oxygen mixture.

"Dr. End and I are not through with our laboratory tests on the diving suit, but from now on I plan to follow two channels of activity," said Nohl, who graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1933. "The research work will be continued but is to be accompanied by practical salvage work."

"This winter Captain Craig and I plan to engage in diving and underwater photography in West Indies waters. Next spring we'll tackle the S. S. Meridia off the coast of Virginia, and then next summer we plan to take a crack at the 'Lusitania' (Lusitania)."

Captain Craig, a commercial diver, has shared in the experiments on the diving suit used yesterday by Nohl. The Meridia, sunk in 1912 70 miles off Cape Charles, is reputed to hold 17 tons of gold and silver bullion. It lies in 220 feet of water. The Lusitania lies in 312 feet of water off the Irish coast.

In the evening the following were entertained there at cards: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morbach, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Bergelin, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Luckow and daughter, Bernice, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wrensch and Eddie Gerrits.

A son was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mueller at St. Elizabeth hospital.

State Produce to Be Given Out on Good Will Tour

President, Governors and Mayors Will be Recipients

Baskets of Wisconsin agricultural produce will be presented to President Roosevelt, the governors of 14 states to be visited by Wisconsin's 1938 Good Will train, and mayors of principal cities along its route, the committee in charge of arrangements has announced.

Outagamie county dairy and manufactured products will be exhibited on the tour through provisions made by the county board at its fall session. The board voted $800 for county participation in the tour.

The baskets will be presented as gifts from Governor Philip F. LaFollette on behalf of the people of Wisconsin.

They will contain cheese, potatoes, cherries, cranberries, apples, peas, sausages, cigars, and other Wisconsin products.

The Good Will train will leave here Feb. 24 for a two weeks' tour of the South and East. Its purpose is to advertise the agricultural, recreational, and industrial resources of Wisconsin.

Several counties have appropriated sums of money for exhibits on the train and the Wisconsin Canners association has asked the use of an entire car for an exhibit of products in tins and glass.

Instruction in Agriculture Has Become Necessity

Anyone Can't Farm, Kaukauna Rotary Club Members are Told

Kaukauna — The place of vocational instruction in agriculture was described to the Kaukauna Rotary club yesterday noon at Hotel Kaukauna by James T. Judd, agricultural instructor at Kaukauna High school.

"In the past it was thought that anyone could farm—recent years have made it obvious that anyone can not farm, and farming has become a highly competitive business," Judd said. "We realize that good judgment and careful management are necessary if a farmer is going to compete with his neighbors and other producers of farm products and the soil is rapidly becoming depleted. Economies have come in the country is becoming more densely populated, there are daily changes in marketing problems, competition is keener every year—all these factors point to the need for training in agriculture."

Describes System

The system of instruction in agriculture at Kaukauna High school was described by Judd. "Classroom work covers animal husbandry, field crops and soils, marketing, rural economics, farm accounting and management, horticulture, seed identification, grain grading, milk tending and poultry culling," Judd said.

In addition to classroom work much is done outside the school. "We have set up a group of scientific jobs to be done on the farm," Judd continued, "which we call approved practices. Some of these are the treating of seeds, germination tests and balancing rations."

Each student at the high school undergoes a program of what is called supervised practice, the boy working on the farm under the supervision of the instructor. Several factors must be considered in advising a boy on farm practice, Judd pointed out. A survey of the farm must be made, the needs and abilities of the student calculated, the needs of the community taken into consideration, the school's facilities appraised, the life and dislikes of the rural people investigated, and, finally, the likes and dislikes of the student, together with his financial status, must be found out.

Studies Program

"When a program for supervised practice is chosen, the boy must make a study of the program, mapping out his plans in detail and making a preliminary estimate of labor, cost, profits and production. These estimates are to be entered in his record book. After the work has begun the teacher must offer help, make constructive criticisms, see that the records are accurately kept and that the student is proceeding in a modern and scientific manner. After the work is finished the instructor assists in the marketing of the product."

The Future Farmers of America, an organization with a chapter at Kaukauna High school, was discussed by Judd. The organization affords a local organization for boys interested in farming, stimulates them to do more and better work, affords opportunity for leadership and promotes scholarship, Judd said. Functions of the chapter have included exhibits, banquets, parties, surveys, development of leadership and projects. In the last class the possibility of setting out a large number of trees for the conservation commission was mentioned as a project for this year's students.

Plan Rural School Day

The holding of a "Rural School Day," probably in the latter part of April of next year, was planned, Judd told the Rotarians. The program will be featured by judging contests, exhibitions by physical education classes, awarding of prizes and a program of entertainment for visitors.

It was planned to get in touch with 20 or more rural teachers throughout the county and secure their cooperation in this affair, Judd said. The program would be followed by the contacting of eighth grade boys and girls with a view to their coming to Kaukauna High school as tuition students.

Other plans for the future were described by Judd. A farmer's institute, with the cooperation of the county agent, will be held sometime in February while work in the 4-H club field will be taken up by Mr. Judd next summer.

AT BENEFIT ASSOCIATION MEETING

Fire and Police Protection

Kaukauna Problem of '94

(This year marks the golden jubilee of Kaukauna's incorporation as a city. This is the twelfth of a series of articles tracing the history of Kaukauna from early times.)

Kaukauna—Police and fire protection were the main interests of the council during the years 1894 and 1895. In the former year the council approved a resolution setting the location of a new police station at the western end of Oak street where it met the Lawe street bridge, the exact location to be determined by the committee on fire and police. The building then used for the city lockup was to be moved to the new location and there used as the first story of a two story building.

The upper story, to be added under the direction of the committee, was to be of the same dimensions as the lower and was to be used as an office. An entrance to the second story from the bridge was provided for. The entire expense of the construction was not to exceed $500. Bids were advertised for to move the old lockup to the new location. When the building was completed the police moved in and did not leave until the present municipal building was constructed.

In the same year the council decided that Kaukauna had grown to such an extent that a continuation of the volunteer fire department was inadvisable, and deemed it proper to call a meeting, settle all the affairs of the old organization, and place the fire department on a professional footing. A committee of three was appointed to investigate fire protection and to erect cisterns for water reserves if they found it necessary.

The sum of $150 was established by the council as the reward of those who would furnish the teams to haul the hook and ladder fire truck to and from fires.

A committee was also appointed at this time, consisting of the city attorney and two aldermen, to look over Wisconsin charters and report to the council if any changes in that of Kaukauna was needed.

Insurance Class Meets Tonight

Course Will Run for Eight Weeks at Vocational School

Kaukauna—The first class in unemployment insurance, a subject arranged several weeks ago, will be held at 7:30 tonight at the Kaukauna Vocational school, William T. Sullivan, director, said yesterday. Classes will continue on Thursday nights for eight weeks, with Laurence Burleigh, district examiner for the unemployment insurance board of Appleton as instructor. Practical work in this subject, including the execution of forms, will be taught. Those who so far have not registered for the course and wish to attend are asked to appear at the school tonight.

Letters were mailed last week by Mr. Sullivan inviting a representative of each Kaukauna business to attend these classes.

while the Schell's, also in second place, will play the Kalupas. The Golden Stars and the Renns will clash in the fourth match of the schedule.

Hollywood News
And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — The man with a thousand voices has just signed away one of them.

For 15 years—in vaudeville, on the air, in pictures—Billy Bletcher has been in show business. His weird ability to mimic anybody or anything practically stole away his own identity. He found himself becoming a "voice" — or many voices.

Once, on the air, he substituted for a famous comedian and listeners never knew the difference. When Hollywood's animated cartoons began to talk, Billy spoke for all of them. Vocationally, he has been pig, frog, dog, rabbit, mouse, horse, cat, practically all the creatures of the animated screen. In spare time he has played parts in feature pictures, sung on the air. His tenor is trained for music, too.

Metro was launching a new series of talking cartoons, "The Captain and the Kids." For it, Bletcher was signed to a contract. He will speak for the Captain—and he cannot use that voice for any other purpose.

But he is still free to use the other 999 voices in his repertoire. He calls it the ideal contract.

Perfect Make-Up
Annabella from France spent two days, soon after arrival at 20th Century-Fox, undergoing the usual Hollywood routine of experimental hair-dress and make-up. Each of the experiments required from one to two hours to apply.

"May I have just one test of myself as I like to look?" she asked. Request granted, she spent 15 minutes with comb and her own vanity case, and stepped before the camera.

Next day, when Production Chief Darryl Zanuck saw the tests, he had the film stopped on a certain frame.

"That's the make-up," he said. "It's perfect."

It was—of course — Annabella's own. She'll use it in "Jean" opposite William Powell.

Auto Graphs
Sally Eilers was "abducted" the other morning.

Emerging from her home, she was surrounded by a gang of boys, ages 14 to 17, and ushered solemnly to the curb. There stood a worn old vehicle, once an automobile.

"Your autograph, please," commanded the gang leader, offering a brush dipped freshly in paint.

Sally effected her ransom payment smilingly. Her name went on the car amidst others which kept it good company: Lombard, Gable, Richard Dix, etc.

The youthful leader had a list of other names. He showed it to Sally, explaining: "We paid $35 for this old bus. When we get all these autographs on it, we can sell it for $175!"

Joyous item from the "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" set relates Mrs. Temple's pleasure that Shirley's curls will be on view through most of the picture, instead of hidden in pigtail.

Quote: "I wouldn't know what to do if I didn't have that little head of hair to curl every day!"

Winnebago Board, In Economy Mood, Slashes Salaries

Supervisors Swing Axe as They Wade Through County Business

Oshkosh—Moaning in a minor key by the stenographers and apologetic county officers in the courthouse following the Wednesday afternoon county board session was attributed to the wave of economy which engulfed the supervisors, spurred on by Supervisor Earl Hughes, town of Neenah.

The only ones who escaped the economy axe, and received small pay boosts were J. J. Hoffman, pension administrator, the radio operator at WAKE, and the county agent's stenographer.

What made the blow so severe, those affected claim, was that previous resolutions had given pay boosts and restored salaries to practically every department.

Some of those short of pay boosts had bitter words for the board and salaries committee, which suggested that the salary of L. M. Hoffman, pension administrator, be boosted $300 per year.

Perhaps one of the reasons why the supervisors were rather abrupt about cutting off pay boosts was the fact they are in some sort of a dilemma. They are permitted to collect $5 per day for 20 days in the year, and they have used up 18 of those 20 days. For this reason, it now appears that in view of a possible meeting in January, March and May, they may be forced to work for nothing for a few days.

The county board speeded up considerably Wednesday afternoon, but was unable to finish its work, so will convene again Thursday afternoon, when a budget will be presented by the finance committee.

Just to show how tough they were, the board listened for half an hour to Frank E. Koefo, former district attorney, extol the value of the fourth town of Wisconsin's Good Will fund. Then they voted down a resolution presented by supervisor John Moore, Oshkosh, asking $800 to finance a county project on the town.

And Jack Faust, clerk of Municipal Court, listened while the board whittled down his salary from $2,400 to $2,150, though fees allowed by the state were not affected. Clinton Bauer, bailiff and constable, was also refused a boost in wage from $2 per day to $2.50.

Lettering on a bronze plaque caused the supervisors to ponder just whose name should be engraved. After many suggestions, it was said that if all names suggested were placed on the plaque, it would extend across the front of the new $1,000,000 courthouse. Several members begged the mayor be referred to the finance committee, or to the aviation and insurance committees, which previously complained they had not enough work to do.

At the close of the session J. F. Shea, chairman, named the following plaque committee: T. J. Cotter, A. P. Kannenberg, and L. W. Clark.

The finance committee managed to have passed an $800 appropriation as the county's share of the Oshkosh Employment office and $360 for the Neenah-Menasha Employment office.

Supervisor S. L. Spengler, Menasha, was granted the right to purchase a tax deed, in the amount of $62.89, following a petition.

A motion to allow the county service officer $150 per year as traveling expenses was voted down 15 to 2, over objections of H. N. Howe, who pointed out the service officer was required to make monthly trips to Milwaukee.

Desert Trek Related For Menasha Rotarians

Menasha—Five days of adventure in making a 200 mile trek across the Sahara desert were described by John Yonan, Appleton business man, before the Menasha Rotary club at Hotel Menasha Wednesday noon.

The first part of the trip was made by automobile and against the advice of natives. The auto finally had to be abandoned when it became stuck in soft sand. Although the season was not the one for caravan travel, Mr. Yonan's party was rescued, only to encounter a terrific sand storm which lasted for a half hour, piling the sand higher and higher.

Mr. Yonan, a member of the Appleton Rotary club, described the true meaning of the desert. He experienced it in meetings in his 30,000 miles of travel through 12 nations. He was the organizer of the first Rotary club in Arabia.

Ask Administration Of Emil Rohde Estate

Menasha—Petition has been made for special administration of the estate of Emilia Rohde, Menasha, in county court at Oshkosh. According to the petition, the estate consists of personal property, the value of which does not exceed $4,000, and real estate of the probable value of $2,500.

Springer Spaniel Awarded Ribbons at Midwest Dog Shows

Neenah—Lary Marion, a springer spaniel, owned by Armin Gerhardt, Neenah High school faculty member, returned this week from a tour of dog shows in the middle west, winning a blue ribbon and a red ribbon.

The springer spaniel took first place in the American bred female class at the Central Illinois Kennel show at Peoria and second place in the Des Moines, Ia., show held in the Drake university field house. The dog also showed in a specialty show at Chicago.

Lary Marion, 1½ years old, is out of Champion Wisnecore II, owned by Dr. A. C. Gifford, Oshkosh. Hollis Wilson, Chicago, professional dog handler, showed Lary Marion in the three shows, and Mr. Gerhardt is considered allowing Wilson to take the dog on a tour of eastern shows this winter.

Estimated Cost of 3 Neenah Projects More Than $72,000

City Engineer Submits Tentative Figures for Improvements

Neenah—Estimates totaling $72,453.02 for three proposed projects for next summer which have been considered by the city council have been submitted by City Engineer A. G. Prunsek, it was reported today by City Clerk H. S. Zemlock.

The three proposed projects are paving of E. Wisconsin avenue from the North Western railway tracks to the shore of Lake Winnebago, erection of a city garage on the city's property on Main street, and a new pump house on N. Park avenue.

The cost of paving E. Wisconsin avenue with concrete is estimated at $67,150.50, of which the property owners would pay $30,771.02 as their share and the city $36,381.16. The estimate is based on a cost of $4.73 per running foot.

The cost of erecting the proposed city garage is estimated at $39,182, not including the brick. Brick taken from N. Commercial street will be used in erecting the proposed structure which would be 165 feet long, 46 feet wide and 25 feet high. General building would cost $30,360; plumbing, $1,500; heating $4,000; wiring, $500, and oil tank change, $500.

The proposed pump house would cost $2,500, it was estimated, of which $2,000 would be for a pump and other equipment.

Two Menasha Youths to Begin Naval Training

Menasha—D. R. Dieckhoff, 516 S. Commercial street, F. L. Rohloff, 633 Broad street, Menasha, and H. E. Kizewski, Menasha, are the Twin City youths among the 16 Winnebago county boys who will leave next Tuesday for Chicago for three months' training preliminary to joining the United States naval fleet on the west coast. The men will be accompanied to Chicago by H. F. Stroth, county recruiter.

Red Cross Chapter Will Coordinate Projects

Neenah—The Neenah chapter of the American Red Cross will act as a "clearing house" for Christmas charitable work again this year, it was announced today by Red Cross officials.

The annual work will start immediately, officials stated, and they urged that to avoid duplication agencies and individuals planning Christmas charity work should contact the Red Cross office.

Tax Rate Will be Fixed at Neenah Council Meeting

Authorize Purchase of Street Grader for $4,173 Last Night

Neenah—The city council will set Neenah's tax rate at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 Thursday night, Dec. 9, in the city hall, it was decided at a regular session Wednesday night in the council chambers.

At an informal meeting scheduled for Monday night at the city hall, the council will study the budgets submitted, and during the adjourned meeting Dec. 9, the contract for repairing the steeple on the city hall will be let. Bids will be opened at 7 o'clock Wednesday night.

Mayor Edwin A. Kalfas informed the council that budgets from all boards, departments, committees and commissions have been submitted to City Clerk H. S. Zemlock. He explained that the finance committee has not had time to study the various budgets and make the necessary recommendations. He also pointed out that the tax levy couldn't be set at last night's session, because the county and state assessments have not been posted. They are expected Friday.

Buy Road Machine The council authorized the purchase of a street grader, a tandem drive caterpillar machine, costing $4,173.30 from the Brebner Sui Machinery company, Green Bay. The aldermen approved the recommendation of the committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges for the purchase of the equipment and instructed the mayor and clerk to buy the machine.

Mayor Kalfas instructed the utilities committee, comprised of Aldermen John F. Kunschke, chairman, Andrew L. Andersen and Walter J. Buschey, to contact Soo Line railroad officials in an effort to curtail switching movements in the residential section of the city. Aldermen complained that soot and smoke from the switch engines were causing damage.

Alderman Emil C. Harder, chairman of the finance committee, reported that there were 171 accounts incurred by the city since the last meeting, totaling $15,933.83. The large bills included final estimates on the N. Commercial street paving project, $4,237.15; interest on sewage plant bonds, $2,643.75; street lighting for November, $1,210; poor relief, $1,176.65.

A petition with 15 signatures was submitted to the council for the installation of sewers on Lorraine, Irene and June streets. A bartender's license was granted to Louis Manthly, 160 Main street. Justice of the Peace Gaylord C. Loehning reported that the total fines and fees collected during last month were $417.63.

On the finance committee's recommendation, the council appropriated $25 for Assessor John Blenker to attend the annual assessors school at Madison.

Menasha Drive of Red Cross Places Nearly 500 on Roll

Committee Announces 10 Per Cent Increase in Membership

Menasha—An increase of 10 per cent, bringing the memberships nearly to the 500 mark, has been reported by the roll call committee in the annual roll call drive of the Menasha chapter of the American Red Cross.

The Third ward led in the number of memberships, followed by the Fifth ward, Second ward, First ward and Fourth ward in order. The Fourth ward showed an increase in memberships over last year while the memberships in the Fifth, Second and First wards were very close in number, according to the committee.

The town of Menasha enrolled nearly 100 per cent during the drive, according to the committee. Miss Vivian Knorr acted as chairman of the drive in Town Menasha and was assisted by George J. Wilz. Fifty per cent of the funds raised in the drive will remain with the local chapter for local needs while the remainder will be sent to national headquarters for use in national emergencies.

Ward chairmen in Menasha were Mrs. Carl Schwartz, First ward; Mrs. Henry Boehlein, Second ward; Mrs. Andrew J. Hopfensperger, Third ward; Mrs. Henry Knoelke, Fourth ward, and Mrs. Viola Kettenhofen, Fifth ward. Mrs. Knoelke worked alone in the Fourth ward while the other chairmen had assisting committees.

The roll call committee consisted of Bernard Boldt, chairman; George T. Stine, chapter chairman, and Ed Hecker, secretary and treasurer of the local chapter.

Neenah Society

Neenah—Mrs. August Kehl was named president of the Ladies Society, Trinity Lutheran church, at a meeting Wednesday in the social hall. Mrs. Emil Harder was selected vice president, Mrs. S. Voss, secretary; Mrs. Walter Malchow, treasurer; Mrs. Adolph Schell, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Paul Schwenk, hostess chairman; and Mrs. Fred Kerwin and Mrs. William Bohman, flower committee. Plans for a Christmas party Dec. 10 were discussed and Mrs. Voss and Mrs. Schwenk were named chairmen in charge. Hostesses for the social hour following the business session were Mrs. Fred Kerwin, Mrs. William Thomack, Mrs. Schanke and Mrs. August Mantel.

Mothers' Circle, First Presbyterian church made plans for a Christmas party Dec. 15 at a meeting in the church Wednesday. Mrs. James Lawson, Mrs. Philip Maas, Mrs. James Nelson, Mrs. Oscar Olson, Mrs. Leonard Mead and Mrs. Fred Engel were named as the committee in charge of arrangements. Gifts to pack a basket will be brought to the party by members and exchange of gifts among members is also planned. Mrs. Charles Barshaw was in charge of devotions at the meeting yesterday. The Rev. W. R. Courtney gave another of a series of talks on the History of Presbyterian Church. Hostesses during the social hour were Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. E. W. Jones, Mrs. A. E. Leverage and Mrs. Louis Lipinski.

Ladies Society, Immanuel Lutheran church, held its regular meeting in the church Wednesday afternoon. Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Albert Woeckner and Mrs. E. C. Kollath read the prayer. Mrs. Arthur Haas read a poem, "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again." Mrs. W. Discher read the topic of the month, "The Healing Program of the Church" and the Rev. E. C. Kollath, pastor, presented further discussion on the topic.

Plans for a Christmas party were discussed at a meeting at Oshkosh some time ago, which was attended by a group of Menasha Elks, headed by R. G. DuCharme, exalted ruler of the Menasha lodge and vice chairman of the league.

A program intended to educate the motoring public in the necessity of safe driving will be presented at the meeting. The league has been endorsed by city and county traffic enforcement officers. The sponsors are hopeful of receiving the whole-hearted cooperation of the motoring public in this effort to make the highways safer for men, women and children.

Elect Mead Head Of Neenah Lodge

Joint Installation of Woodmen Officers Planned Jan. 9

Neenah—Leonard W. Mead was elected consul of the Neenah camp of the Modern Woodmen of America at a meeting last night at the Eagles hall. Other officers elected are Charles Adams, advisor; Harry Gibson, banker; Edward Goodman, escort; Mrs. Harold Jaspersen, sentry; Mrs. Harry Gibson, watchman, and William Owens, re-elected for three years.

Four new members were admitted to the camp last night, and Roy C. Beach, secretary of the Three County club, was present and gave an activity report. Plans were made to hold an open joint installation of officers of camps in three counties at the Neenah camp, Sunday, Jan. 19, with the work being done by state officers.

Harold C. Jaspersen, camp secretary, holds his office as appointive position by the state manager, and Dr. I. E. Ozanne, camp physician, also holds his office, an appointive office by the national medical examiner.

Menasha Personals

Neenah Conservation Clubs Will Cooperate in Winter Feeding Plan

Neenah—Twin City Rod and Gun club and the Conservation club of Neenah High school will cooperate with the Winchester-Larsen club in a winter feeding program to take care of pheasants and other wild game in the northern end of Winnebago county. It was planned at a meeting of the board of directors of the Twin City Rod and Gun club Wednesday evening in the city hall. Officers of the Winchester-Larsen club and Warden Al Dunham also attended.

A new group of feed hoppers is now being completed by the Junior club under direction of Armin Gerhardt with funds furnished by the adult club, it was reported. Placing of feeding stations will begin this weekend. The clubs wish to appeal to all residents of this section of rural areas for cooperation in reporting to clubs the presence of birds which will be in need of food this winter.

Dunham Outlines Program Warden Dunham outlined the winter feeding program to take care of the pheasants and other wild game throughout the county. He stated that according to reports, the "hold-over" after the hunting season was greater than last year, a report that is encouraging to sportsmen considering the extended season on birds this fall.

Plans are also being completed, it was announced, for building at least one hundred house for the rearing of 250 pheasant chicks next spring. Estimates on material costs are being furnished by local business firms and work will be done by a county PWA unit.

Mr. Dunham also outlined plans for a county wild-life show to be held in January in cooperation with the conservation department and sponsored by all conservation clubs. An attempt will be made to raise funds through the show to assist in winter feeding work and general conservation of wild life in the county.

Among new regulations in fishing a new ice fishing rule which limits the number of lines or "tip-ups" to two, was explained by Warden Dunham. This rule will be closely adhered to in enforcement of fishing laws and is of special interest at this time, it was stated, because a great deal of ice fishing will undoubtedly be started this coming weekend with favorable ice conditions permitting.

Annual meeting plans were discussed by club members. Further information is to be released within a few days.

Miss Jayne Anderson won the guest prize.

Mrs. Lucille Woolridge and Mrs. Helen Zemlock won prizes in bridge at the Eastern Star Bridge club Wednesday in Masonic temple. Plans for a potluck supper and Christmas party were discussed. Mrs. R. V. Luther was hostess yesterday.

Mrs. Carl Zietlow was hostess during the social hour which followed the business meeting of the Ladies Society, First Evangelical church, Wednesday. Future work projects were discussed but no definite action taken.

Ladies society, First Methodist Episcopal church, will have a regular meeting at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Twin City Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Harold Bowman is chairman of the hostess committee.

Handkerchief shower will feature the Christmas party of the Ladies Society of First Methodist Episcopal church at 7:30 this evening in Twin City Y. W. C. A. Handkerchiefs will be used for sale at the bazaar planned by the members Thursday, Dec. 9 in the social hall of St. Margaret Mary Catholic church. Mrs. Herman Schell is chairman of the hostess committee for the party and Mrs. Belle Williams is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Twin City Business and Professional Women are planning a Christmas party to be held Wednesday, Dec. 8 at the Valley Inn. A dinner will precede exchange of gifts and announcement of "lollipop sisters" identities.

Members of Circle 1, Ladies Society, Immanuel Lutheran church, are making preparations for a Christmas party to be held Dec. 10 at the home of Mrs. Earl Bosch, 677 Oak street.

Ladies Society of Immanuel Lutheran church will sponsor a food

Neenah Coach Is Encouraged After Practice Session

Red Rockets Display Potential Ability in Scrimmage

Neenah—Coach Ole Jorgensen at least was not displeased with the showing his Neenah High school quintet made in a practice game against the Berastrom Paper mill team at West De Pere Wednesday night, despite the fact that the Red Rockets lost by two points, 25 to 23.

"We have some promising material and all they need is development," was the coach's only statement following the game. The high school aggregation opens its season at West De Pere Friday night in a Northeastern Wisconsin conference game.

The game was played in Roosevelt gym in order to get the high school cagers accustomed to playing on a small court, for West De Pere's gym is small in comparison with the Neenah court, the coach explained.

11-All at Half

During the first half of the game, Jorgensen called his first team to fight it out with the Berastrom quintet, and the score was tied, 11-11, at the end of the period. Then he started substituting, experimenting with different combinations and plays while coaching from the sidelines.

The high school's second cage squad, which will also open its season against West De Pere's second team at West De Pere Friday night in a preliminary game, was defeated Wednesday afternoon in a practice game with an intramural team, 21 to 19. The second team is coached by Ivan Williams.

Jorgensen used the following men in yesterday's game: Schmidt, Jackson, H. Hesselman, Kettering, J. Hesselman, Haerli, McDiarmid, Hacksch, Dupont, and Larimer. Playing for Berastrom were Haire, Webster, Barnes, Block, Jorgensen, Thomsen and Schmidt. Webster was high point man, netting seven field goals.

Catholic Cagers Will See Action

Menasha Teams to Play in Opening Conference Games Friday

Menasha—The Catholic Boys' eighth grade basketball league will open its season at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon with the three local schools playing at home. St. Patrick will entertain St. Joseph of Appleton; St. Mary of Appleton will play St. Mary of Menasha and St. John will play St. Theresa, Appleton.

St. Margaret Mary of Neenah has drawn the bye as there are 11 teams in the league. After opening league games are Holy Cross, Kaukauna, at St. John, Little Chute and St. Mary, Kaukauna, at Holy Name, Kimberly.

Each team will play a schedule of 20 games on a home and home basis. In order to complete the league season before the grade school tournament, officials of the league have decided to play a single game one week followed by two games the next week. Games are scheduled for Tuesday and Friday of the alternate weeks. However, because of conflicts where some of the schools use public school gyms, the games may be shifted by mutual agreement.

Twin City Deaths

MRS. WALLACE J. GARFIELD
Neenah—Mrs. Wallace J. Garfield, 70, died at 9:45 Wednesday night at her home at 715 Nicolet boulevard after a 5-week illness.

Mrs. Garfield was born in Rock Hill and was married in 1886 in Neenah and has lived here since. She was a member of the Baptist church and the First Fundamental church and president of the Ladies Prayer band.

Survivors are her husband, two daughters, Mrs. William Jacobson and Mrs. Frank Douglas; three sons, Marvin Garfield, Earl Garfield, Neenah, and Wallace A. Garfield, West Allis, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Saturday afternoon at the Orsonson Funeral home and at 2 o'clock at the First Fundamental church with the Rev. W. C. Winters in charge. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from Friday afternoon to the time of the services.

Dr. Seiler Entertains Boys' Brigade Groups

Neenah—Dr. Truman J. Seiler, popular Neenah magician, entertained the sixth grade groups of the Neenah Boys' Brigade at the organization's meeting Monday night at the Brigade building.

The seventh and eighth grade groups carried on a discussion on safety of firearms, including the proper ways of carrying, shooting, cleaning, and caring of guns. It was pointed out that 1,200 people were

Christmas Lights May be Turned on At Menasha Tonight

Menasha—City workmen were racing against time today to complete the installation of Christmas decorations along the main street so they may be lighted tonight for the first time.

The Christmas trees have been placed in brackets on all of the light posts from Washington street to Racine street through the business district. Lights at noon today still had to be placed on the trees on Tayco and Washington streets.

A 25 foot tree has been placed in the city triangle and will be topped with a large illuminated star as well as other lights. A smaller tree has been placed at the intersection of Main, Kaukauna and Tayco streets. This also must still be decorated.

Menasha business places will remain open tonight to accommodate "Dollar day" shoppers.

Hesselman Cops Ping Pong Title

Defeats Jack Draheim in Intramural Tournament at Neenah

Neenah—Harold Hesselman copped the championship in the ping pong tournament in the intramural activities at Neenah High school Wednesday. Ole Jorgensen, physical education director, reported today.

Hesselman defeated Jack Draheim in the finals, 21-18, 19-21 and 21-14. He had beaten Robert Bunker in the semi-finals, 21-17, 21-19. Bunker had defeated Dupont in the semi-finals, 21-18 and 21-19.

Gibson and McGraw will battle it out this week for the championship in the badminton tournament, both boys having reached the finals. Gibson beat Bunker in the semi-finals and McGraw defeated Wolff in that round.

Weitz-Winkelman won seven straight games in the volleyball tournament to cop the championship. Gibson-Wolf took second with six wins against one defeat, and McGraw-Maynor annexed third position with five victories and two losses against H. Graheim, Schultz-Berendsen and Klutz-Clark each won one game and lost six.

Menasha Club to Help Bell Fund

Members Will Contribute 7 Cents East Toward Project

Menasha—Members of the Menasha Economics club will bring seven cents to the Friday afternoon meeting in Twin City Y. W. C. A. for the club's contribution to a Wisconsin bell to be hung with other state bells in Independence hall in Philadelphia. It was announced by Mrs. Norbert Verbrick, president of the club today.

Each club in Wisconsin, affiliated with the Federated clubs will contribute seven cents per member to the fund for purchase of the bell.

Featuring the club program Friday will be a talk by Mary Erdlitz, Oshkosh, on "Life Under the Big Top with Ringling and Barnum and Bailey Circus." Miss Erdlitz returned to her home in Oshkosh recently after closing the show season in Florida. With her mother, Mrs. E. J. Erdlitz, Oshkosh, Miss Erdlitz will be guests at a 12:30 luncheon at the home of Mrs. H. O. Griffith, 514 Milwaukee street, Menasha.

Mrs. Annette Matheson and Miss Ruby Hart will present a piano duet at the afternoon program. Tea hostesses include Mrs. Charles Bailor, Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Mrs. Silas Spengler, Mrs. R. J. O'Keefe, Mrs. John O'Leary and Mrs. William Trilling.

Head of Commission To Discuss New Plant

Menasha—William H. Clifford, president of the Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission, will speak on the operation of the newly-completed Twin Cities sewage disposal plant at the meeting of Nicolet council, Knights of Columbus, tonight. His talk will follow the regular business meeting. A luncheon will also be served.

ATTEND COUNCIL MEETING
Neenah—Students from the Neenah High school civics class taught by Miss Edna Mae Harris attended the Neenah city council session in the city hall last night.

John Yonan, Appleton, gave an illustrated lecture of his trip through Persia. He talked to the ninth and tenth grade groups. The older boys' group made a tour of the Neenah-Menasha Sewage disposal plant, following the process of disposal from the time the sewage enters the plant from the mains until it is burned and the ashes removed for filling purposes.

Minnesota Alumni Form Fox River Valley Club

Neenah—Dr. John Jern, Neenah dentist, was named president, and Miss Geraldine Anderson, associate secretary at the Twin City Y. W. C. A. was named secretary of the Fox river valley alumni club of graduates of the University of Minnesota at an organization meeting Wednesday evening at the Y. A dinner preceded the meeting.

E. B. Pierce, executive secretary of the General Alumni association, was guest speaker, presenting a talk on the organization and development of the center for continuation study at the Minnesota state university.

Both groups are active and encourage developments in higher education, and the speaker said, Mr. Pierce also told of building plans and presented facts and figures on the size and scholastic standing of the institution. Parts of each of the football games of the 1936 season were shown in motion pictures after which slides picturing buildings and personalities on the campus were shown.

Mr. Pierce, accompanied by Miss Anderson at the piano, led the group in singing college songs and his guest, John McKay, New York City, who is first trombone player with Fred Waring's orchestra, presented three selections.

Will Meet in Spring
The territory to be included in the club will extend from Green Bay on the north to Fond du Lac on the south. Any alumnus in the valley may send his name into one of the officers at Neenah. The next meeting of the group will be held in the spring with an executive council, appointed by the officers, assisting with the plans.

Maroon Gophers on gold paper, place cards, and maroon and gold chrysanthemums decorated the dinner tables.

Those attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Nichols, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Nelson, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lande, Miss Ruth Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Eubank, Karl Oberreich, Dr. and Mrs. John Jern, Helene Peterson, Geraldine Anderson, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Swanson, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Weston, Neenah; Doris Chandler, Neenah; Dr. Roy Perschbacher, Dr. William J. Harrington and Dr. E. N. Krueger, all of Appleton.

LEAVES FOR BERMUDA

Menasha—Conrad O. Collup, 622 Broad street, left today on a business trip to Bermuda. He left for New York from where he will sail on the Queen of Bermuda for the island on Saturday. He plans to be gone for a week or 10 days.

Formulate Plan to Consolidate Two Political Factions

Steering Committee Will Select Larger Group For Next Meeting

Menasha—Preliminary steps in the formation of a Republican-Democrat coalition for the 1938 election was arranged at Milwaukee last night, Joseph Seftenberg, Oshkosh, Winnebago county Republican chairman stated today. Mr. Seftenberg was one of the committee of 10 who have been appointed to act as a steering committee in the selection of a larger group to formulate principles and choose list of candidates.

Dr. F. M. Corry, Menasha, and William E. Hazeltine, Ripon, were other representatives of the Sixth congressional district present at the meeting. Dr. Corry is the Winnebago county Democratic chairman. More than five times the number of names needed for the larger committee were submitted, according to Mr. Seftenberg. The list will be carefully scrutinized and personal contact made with the desirable candidates.

Written declarations promising active cooperation with the coalition move will be secured by the committee within the next week.

Stevens Point was definitely decided upon by the committee as the meeting place of the larger committee of 70 or 80 members. The meeting will be held within the next three weeks although no definite date has been set.

"Some criticism has been made of the plan because we have not formulated a platform," Mr. Seftenberg said. "It would not be fair for a small group to determine the coalition stand. In the interests of democratic principles, the platform and program will be adopted by the representative group meeting at Stevens Point."

Wires and letters poured in upon the steering committee urging the enlistment of certain workers in the campaign. The response from the north-west section of the state, long a Progressive stronghold, was particularly gratifying, according to Mr. Seftenberg.

AT CONVENTION

Neenah—Carl Christensen, director of the Neenah Vocational school, is attending a convention of the American Vocational schools association which is being held at Baltimore, Md. Mr. Christensen left for Baltimore Monday night.

Women's Relief Corps Elects Officers at Meeting in Armory

Neenah—Mrs. Martha Johnson was elected president of the Neenah Women's Relief corps Wednesday afternoon in S. A. Cook armory. Mrs. Margaret Sanders was named senior vice-president, Mrs. Lila Skenadore, junior vice-president; Mrs. Freda Herick, treasurer; Mrs. Carolyn Bergman, chaplain; Mrs. Jeanne Herick, conductress; Mrs. Hannah Peterson, guard.

Delegates to the state convention in Milwaukee in June, 1938, were Mrs. Martha Johnson, Mrs. Maude Heuer and Mrs. Mary Apitz, Mrs. Blanche Dahlstrom, Mrs. Luella Radtke and Mrs. Adeline Radtke were chosen alternates.

Plans for a Christmas party Dec. 15 were discussed. Mrs. Freda Herick was selected chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Gifts will be exchanged and a covered dish supper will be served.

Installation of newly-elected officers will be held at the first meeting in January.

The Characters
Nina, a nice girl with flaxen hair, has fallen in love with her step-father.
Richard, the charming, well-talored stepfather, pays considerable attention to Nina.
Honey, Nina's gay, plump, youthful mother, is crazy about her new husband.
David, a young auto salesman, has begun to adore Nina.
Cordelia is Nina's closest friend.

Chapter 14
David's Proposal
The second horse—which was the dreaded Worthington creature—fell also, but while its rider was thrown clear, Nina was pinned under the two animals in a tangle of reins, stirrups, and eight wildly kicking black hoofs.
Twice, Gray Dawn struggled up a little, but could get no foot-hold on the hard, frosty surface of the road, and fell back again... knocking the breath clean out of her mistress's body. Nina's right leg was twisted behind her into an unbearable position and a weight like the rock of Gibraltar was resting on her left.
The sky overhead was segmented by what seemed, to her tortured eyes, a thousand waving legs; and over and above the grunting of the animals, a rushing sound was filling her head, like the overflowing of a mighty river.
Gradually her legs ceased to ache, and the sky above became overcast by a great dark cloud. ... In a detached sort of way, she wondered if she were dying.
"Hey! Careful there. ... You'll get kicked to death!" Through the whirring noises came Lilith's voice, harshly turned back.
And another voice "What the hell... are you just going to let her lie there?"
And now Nina was quite sure she was delirious, if not actually at death's door.
The voice she heard was David's. "You damn fool! They'll quiet in a second. ..."
And David's taunting: "Oh yeah?"

Completion of New London WPA Project Assured

District Supervisor Says Funds for Park Are Available

New London — That the completion of New London's original WPA park project is assured was related to F. A. Jennings, park superintendent, by G. Moody, WPA district supervisor from Stevens Point, in a visit here yesterday.

Approximately $37,000 of the original $115,000 government grant remains available for completion of the project which includes the recently proposed athletic field and stadium, fence, enclosure, shelter house, and completed improvements to the lagoon and playground areas. This work will be done without further contribution from the city and will take about three years to complete, according to Jennings. A $10,000 donation from the late William H. Hatten will finance the stadium project.

Through some error the New London park project was removed from the records at Washington, according to Moody, but was restored recently in its original details.

Start Fence Monday

All plans and specifications for the athletic field, stadium and stone fence have been submitted to the WPA by Walter Schoenrock, New London architect, and will be accepted by the administrator, Moody, assured. The project now is undergoing the complicated procedure of approval by the government agency.

Work will start Monday on the erection of the stone fence, Jennings said. Building of the stadium will be deferred until next spring. The 400-foot trench for the footing of the fence along the east side was dug this week.

The fence will set on a footing three feet underground. The concrete base will be one foot thick and three feet wide. The wall will taper in thickness from three feet at the bottom to 20 inches at the top, according to Jennings. Pillars will rise about the level of the 7-foot fence every 100 feet. The enclosure will be erected entirely of native building stone with concrete laid inside to knit the mass together. The outside will give an appearance of a dry wall.

Plant 4,000 Trees

Until weather interferes workmen will continue to haul building stone from the quarry. About 36 men are at work at the park. Crushing of stone will begin about Feb. 1 as a part of the athletic field project. According to Jennings, the city still has $3,000 worth of crushing remaining on a separate crushing project.

The south entrance to the park was completed by workmen Tuesday and last week cold weather ended the planting of 4,000 evergreen trees donated by Mrs. Charles Uecker. Red cedar and Norway pine were set out in various sections of the park. The city water tank was used for watering in the transplanting process and it is believed no trees will be lost. Mrs. Uecker has donated about 10,000 trees since the project began.

Vets' Auxiliary Appoints Officers

Mrs. Walter Melchoir Is Americanization Chairman

New London — Appointive officers and some of the year's committees were named by Mrs. Martin Abraham, president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, at a meeting at the club rooms Tuesday night.

Mrs. Albert Heimbrueck is banner bearer; Mrs. E. L. McAndrews, flag bearer; Mrs. Emma Klatt, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Walter Melchoir, Americanization chairman; Mrs. George White and Mrs. Walter Toeckle, hospitalization and sick; Mrs. Fred Morack, national home fund chairman.

The kitchen committee for the year is Mrs. Martha Borchardt, chairman; Mrs. Albert Heimbrueck, Mrs. E. J. Schoenrock, Mrs. Delbert Collier. The social committee for the month of December is Mrs. Martin Abraham, chairman; Mrs. Theresa Abraham, Mrs. George Beattie, Mrs. Martha Borchardt.

The auxiliary will join with the Veterans' post for a Christmas party at the hall on Sunday evening, Dec. 19. Mrs. E. J. Schoenrock was placed in charge of arrangements for the auxiliary.

Board Defers Action On Teaching Vacancy

New London — Applications for the position resigned by Miss Gertrude Hoffman, George-Dean home economics instructor at Washington High school, were considered by the board of education at a special meeting last night. Final decision on the hiring of a new instructor was deferred until Saturday.

Miss Hoffman will take over the work of county demonstration agent for Shawano county as soon as a successor is secured for her work here.

TO SING AT PARENT-SON BANQUET

New London — This is the Washington High school boys' quartet which has become so popular on entertainment programs of New London clubs and organizations since they were organized about Oct. 1 by Miss Mary K. Donohue, director of vocal music in the public schools. This is the first year New London has had the services of a full time vocal instructor. The boys, shown in action, are left to right, Robert Rumenooff, George Demming, Harold Goltztreu and Emery Danke, all seniors. They have sung for many out-of-town audiences at special gatherings here and their next appearance will be at the F.F.A. Parent-Son banquet at the high school Saturday evening. A junior quartet also is being trained.

New London Red Cross Memberships Set Mark

New London — American Red Cross memberships for 1937 in New London exceed even the high mark of last year according to the report of Miss Rose Kische, toll call chairman. A total of $178 was checked in by all workers this week and a few other donations still are expected.

Last year's drive, in which Miss Kische was a leading worker, netted a total of $168, four times the figure reached in 1935 when $42 was recorded.

There are 161 memberships of $1 this year compared to 139 of last year. Donations of less than $1 amount to $17. Half the total funds remain in the city for welfare work.

Assisting Miss Kische were Mrs. L. J. Polaski in the first ward; Miss Evelyn Hickey and Mrs. Ralph Klund in the second ward; Miss Dorothy Secord in the third ward; Mrs. F. P. Pfeifer, Mrs. George Demming, Mrs. A. W. Snesby, Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. E. N. Calof, Mrs. C. H. Kellogg and Miss Alice Mulroy in the fourth ward; Miss Amelia Rasmussen in the fifth.

At the factories Mrs. Betty Morse contacted Hatten employees, Miss Selma Roloff the Edison, and Miss Marie Mayberry the Plywood. Norman Pronold solicited among the public school teachers.

55 Boys Sign for H. S. Tournament

Basketball Golf Program Will Get Started Friday

New London — A basketball golf tournament will open Friday afternoon at Washington High school for boys in intramural activities. At the close of registrations last night a total of 55 boys had signed 29 in Class B and 26 in Class A.

Competition in the non-elimination contests will start Friday and be completed next Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 8. The low scorer wins the tournament. Regular basketball intramurals will be suspended during the contest.

R. M. Shortell, city recreation director, has asked the park board to consider the construction of a skating rink at the Washington High school grounds to be completed before the Christmas vacation. If a satisfactory rink is available an intramural hockey tournament with two teams will be organized. Angus Kreischner, WPA recreational worker, will be in charge of the rink again this year. The question of the rink will be brought before the city council at the next regular meeting Tuesday night.

New London Five In Match Victory Over Fond du Lac

Dewey Berzill's Squad Defeated by 13-Pin Margin

New London — Dewey Berzill, recently transferred to the Verifine Dairy Products plant at Fond du Lac, returned last night with a Fond du Lac bowling team but his welcome suffered a setback when the New London factory keggers defeated them in two games and won the match by 13 pins, 2,269 to 2,256, at Prah's North side alleys.

Billy Cupp paced the home team with a 504 score, pounding 130 and 192 for his first two games. Ed Wolff rolled a 500 total. R. Ayerbeck cleaned up for the visitors with a high series of 489 and game of 181.

Visiting with Berzill were B. Grashorn, C. Christman, A. Krammer and Ayerbeck. Rolling against them were Russell Berzill, C. H. Kellogg, Wilford Cupp, Ed Wolff and Norbert Arent.
